LIBERTY LIVES WITH AMERICA, HOOVER AVERS

COUNTRY HAS DUTY OF REBUILDING DEMOCRACY

Boston, May 23, (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover asserted tonight that "here in America is the last chance of making the system of liberty vital to men," and maintained that this country had the double duty of repairing democracy's failures and of constantly rebuilding it.

"These are grave days for the future of civilization and for our own country," he said in an address prepared for the annual meeting of the Boys' Clubs of America, an organization which he serves as chairman of its board of directors.

"Our minds," Hoover declared, "are distracted by the infinite tragedies which unroll day by day. That the independence of peaceful nations should be murdered fires our indignation. That women and children should be ruthlessly slaughtered brings us to tears."

Boys Work Important

The nation's former chief executive said that the work of the Boys' Club—that of "giving a full chance in life to the pavement boy"—was not "trivial in this world storm," adding that "our stern duty is to carry on the processes of humane endeavor in this democracy."

With high praise for the Boys' Club aim of giving "every child an equal chance," Hoover said that "just as the Fascists build their boys as part of a military state, we want to build our boys to support a democratic state.

"x x x We citizens of the largest remaining democracy have a high duty and a high purpose in making easy the path of the democratic ideal."

Hoover declared that government probably would concern itself to a greater and greater extent with the affairs of the nation's youth.

"But," he added, "it will be a sign of degeneration when we as private citizens shall surrender character building to the state; that is not the place where personality and character can ever be built.

Dictatorship Too Simple

"This service requires sacrifice, understanding, toleration, generosity. The methods of a dictator are too simple and too easy."

Earlier today, Hoover told his press conference that a Democratic president had both the right and the opportunity to obtain the views of the Republican party on "transcendental questions of national defense, peace and war."

Taking note of current discussion of "coalition" government, he said that cooperation was "feasible" without coalition, and suggested that the president could call into conference the minority leaders of the house and the senate to obtain the views of Republicans "as a party."

"If there was an agreement," he said, "then the Republicans would certainly be willing to cooperate." He emphasized, however, that he was not advancing this procedure as a suggestion to President Roosevelt.

Ship Sponsor

When the 35,000-ton U. S. Washington slides down the ways at Philadelphia Navy Yard on June 1, it will be christened by 15-year-old Virginia Marshall (above) of Spokane, Wash., great-great-granddaughter of Chief Justice Marshall. The Washington, first U. S. battleship to be launched since 1921, will be the most powerful ship in the American fleet.

NATION GUARDS BIG BATTLESHIP

Launching June 1 Will Be First Since 1921; Sister Ship Rushed

Philadelphia, May 23. (AP)—Stringent precautions to keep prying eyes at a distance during the launching June 1 of the 35,000-ton Washington, first battleship addition to the United States navy since 1921, were disclosed today.

All shipping will be banned from the Delaware river for two miles up and down the stream for at least two hours before and after the mighty floating fortress slides down the ways at the Philadelphia navy yard.

New Jersey state police will patrol the opposite shore of the river. Only persons with passes will be admitted to the yard.

Photographers will be limited in views they may take.

The Washington and a sister ship, the North Carolina, to be launched at the Brooklyn navy yard June 13, are rated as more powerful than any existing battleship in the United States navy.

Each will have a 5,000-mile cruising range, will carry 1,450 officers and men, and will mount nine 16-inch guns in three turrets.

The Washington's keel was laid June 14, 1938. Completion of the $65,000,000 vessel was not expected until July, but work in its final stages was rushed in line with the wish of President Roosevelt that naval construction be expedited.

Recruiting Stations Opened In Michigan

Detroit, May 23 (AP)—Three new recruiting stations have been opened throughout the state because of an increase in United States army enlistments.

The new stations are located at Pontiac, Battle Creek, and Muskegon. There are now nine regular stations in Michigan.

Major J. L. Bachus of the Detroit recruiting office said three more stations would be established, including one at Jackson, and that, within 10 days, a mobile recruiting unit will visit rural areas.

Parachutist Lands To Set Fires Back Of Lines In France

Rouen, France, May 23, (AP)—A German parachutist, carrying a bicycle and incendiary equipment, was reported captured tonight after he landed in the Gournay region near Rouen, south of the Somme, on a mission of spreading fire behind the allied lines.

He said he had been ordered to mingle with Belgian refugees and set fires wherever he could. Originally of Belgian nationality, the man was recruited by the German army last April.

State Purchasing Fight With Prison Industries Settled

Lansing, May 23. (AP)—Officials of the state purchasing division and the prison industries declared today that a compromise had been effected settling the industries' contention that its products were being discriminated against in state buying.

A statement issued by Edward G. Heckel, director of corrections, said that at a meeting between himself, William H. Burke, manager of the prison industries, and Robert J. Riley, state purchasing director, it was agreed that the purchasing division should ask for bids upon federal government specifications and that the prison industries would be allowed to compete fully with private sellers.

All differences between the industries and the purchasing department were satisfactorily adjusted," the statement said, adding that there would be no necessity for an "investigation" of the dispute planned tomorrow by the purchasing committee.

Originally, Burke had charged that there was a "leak" in the purchasing department which permitted private sellers to under bid the industries. Riley replied that the industries was charging too high a price for its product.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, chairman of the purchasing committee, who called for the investigation upon hearing Burke's charges, said the probe was cancelled.

Quality Not Checked

Burke told newsmen that the industries had been making its products upon government specifications for three months but that Riley had been letting contracts on a price basis, solely without attention to quality. Riley said he did not know of the industries' specifications program.

Under the compromise, the purchasing division agreed to inform the industries of its yearly requirement so that the latter may plan its production scientifically.

Burke asserted that, considering the lower overhead paid by the industries, "there is no possibility of private competition if the same (specifications) yardstick is used."

FIGHT ON SALES TAX CONTINUES

Detroit Dispute Taken to Governor; Charge Big Shakedown

Lansing, May 23 (AP)—Controversy over the collections of the state sales tax in the Detroit metropolitan area were carried to Governor Dickinson today.

The state board of tax administration, which administers the tax collections, was closeted with the governor, but declined to reveal the nature of its discussions.

It was reported that the discussion concerned a conflict between Walter F. Reddy, managing director of the board, and Harold W. Davis, manager of the Detroit district office.

That conflict has been reported since Auditor General Vernon J. Brown and Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly, two members of the board, announced an investigation last winter of the accounts of the Detroit office.

They charged that about $500,000 in sales taxes were "unaccounted for" and that taxpayers had been "shaken down" by board auditors.

Three auditors and a taxpayer later were arrested. The board then reported that the "missing" half million dollars resided in delinquent taxes.

An investigator said part of the confusion resulted from the fact that the governor appoints the managing director for a fixed term, but he serves as a subordinate of the board.

Unemployment Staff Must Be Citizens In Order To Keep Jobs

Detroit, May 23, (AP)—Employes of the Michigan unemployment compensation commission today were ordered to submit proof of citizenship as a requisite for continued employment.

HUGE BUDGET FOR U. S. NAVY PASSED, 78-0

PRESIDENT TO TALK ON DEFENSE OVER RADIO SUNDAY

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, May 23—Prominent industrialists pledged President Roosevelt their utmost cooperation in pushing through the huge defense program today, while the senate heard an appeal that Adolf Hitler be told that American resources are dedicated "to his destruction as a force in the affairs of decent men."

During the day, with a unanimity born of fateful times, the senate approved an appropriation of $1,473,756,728 for the navy and its air force by a vote of 78 to 0. At the same time officials adopted plans for applying America's mass production talents and technique to the production of fighting planes and engines.

Business Cooperates

From the White House came word that Mr. Roosevelt would give the nation on Sunday night a "straightforward and factual report" on the progress of the defense plans. Broadcast at 9:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, by three nation wide chains, it will be the president's first radio "fireside chat" since the opening days of the war.

The pledge of the industrialists was taken to the White House by the commerce department's business advisory council, a group of more than 50 representing a cross-section of American industry. They presented a resolution saying that "business recognizes the need for complete unity in the cooperation of all of our country's vital forces and unanimously pledges its full aid to this end."

Coalition Idea Cools

Members of the council talked with the president for nearly an hour in a discussion which touched upon such matters as plant expansion to meet defense needs, keeping living costs to a minimum and expediting the manufacture of munitions and planes.

At the Capitol, Senator Pepper (D-Fla) urged that the United States attempt to swing the tide of battle in favor of the Allies at once, by sending money, goods, planes and arms for their use.

This country, he told his colleagues, should "tell Hitler and Hitlerism that we are his eternal and immortal enemies and that he shall be destroyed as a political force."

If the United States contents itself with merely attending to its own protection, Pepper added, "we will have committed on of the greatest tragedies in history."

The possibility of a coalition cabinet being formed at this time to push the defense program dwindled further, meanwhile.

No Republican Invited

Reiterating his opposition to the idea, Herbert Hoover suggested that President Roosevelt seek the views of Republican leaders in the house and senate.

From a high administration official came word that "there

Tugboat Captain Gets Cowboy Job In Detroit River

Detroit, May 23. (AP)—Capt. Bill Kempainen and his tugboat played a game of cowboy out on the Detroit river today.

A 1,000-pound steer, being led to slaughter at a packing plant, broke away and galloped a mile and a half to the river front through dodging pedestrians and automobiles.

Plunging in, the steer began swimming toward Canada. Capt. Kempainen and his tug, summoned to help, caught up just about the time an international problem was developing.

"Either we lasso that dogie or one of you guys has got to ride him ashore," Capt. Bill told the packing men. "We aren't taking him aboard this tug boat."

Capt. Kempainen himself looped a home-made lasso over the animal's neck, and the tugboat towed the steer back to the United States shore. It was tempted into a truck containing some hay and taken back to the packing plant.

Billion Dollar Relief Bill Bars 5th Column

BY DONALD A. YOUNG

Washington, May 23 (AP) — A $1,111,754,916 relief bill revised to meet President Roosevelt's requests and to prevent employment of aliens, Communists and Nazi Bund members was passed by the house tonight and sent to the senate.

The rollcall vote was announced as 354 to 21.

With the Democratic majority in full command, the members approved the president's recommendation for a $975,650,000 WPA fund with permission for him to use it in eight months beginning July 1, rather than to stretch it over the full 12-month period.

The house also endorsed his request for elimination of restrictions against use of WPA funds on big construction projects. The deleted sections provided that no federal building, bridge, stadium or other structure could be erected with WPA funds if the total cost exceeded $50,000 and that the WPA contribution to non-federal projects must be limited to the same amount.

Mindful of reports of the effectiveness of fifth columns abroad, the members accepted without debate an amendment by Representative Walter (D-Pa) to broaden the prohibition against employment of aliens to include Communists and members of Nazi Bund groups.

A little later, Representative Rich (R-Pa) successfully sponsored an amendment to include in the restrictions any person who advocated the overthrow of the government.

The bill carries, in addition to the WPA fund, $115,000,000 for rural rehabilitation, $3,500,000 for the Puerto Rico reconstruction administration, $1,700,000 for the Indian service, $500,000 for the office of government reports in the the president's office, and more than $15,000,000 for administrative expenses of agencies which handle relief.

CUBA TO CAST LOT WITH U. S.

Pan-American Split Seen As Worst Danger to Western World

Havana, May 23. (AP)—"The interests of the United States also will be Cuba's" in case of any danger to the Democratic policies of the western hemisphere, Col. Fulgencio Batista, Cuban "strong man" candidate for president, said tonight in an interview.

Cuba will do whatever is necessary in the way of building fortifications on the island in event of real danger to America.

Asked by reporters whether Cuba would accept United States financing for such projects, he said, "Well, I don't see any other way of financing the construction of forts."

He discounted the possibility of a German attack on any country in the western hemisphere, but said that if Adolf Hitler won the European war it would constitute a real danger for the whole world—including the German people.

Batista asserted that danger to the western world would arise from a division among the Pan-American republics.

Bay City, Mich., May 23. (AP)—A submarine destroyer, the 170-foot, 300-ton PC-451, was launched here today in the hope that she might be the world's fastest craft of her kind. The vessel, built experimentally at a cost of $1,125,000, was sponsored by Mrs. Elizabeth Leahy, wife of Lieut. Commander William H. Leahy. Commander Leahy supervised construction. Another experimental sub destroyer is nearing completion here.

Swastika Painted On Fifth Column Angell Hall Pillar

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 23, (AP)—Pranksters were blamed today for the painting during the night of a three-foot red swastika on the "fifth column" of Angell hall on the University of Michigan campus.

Four of the huge granite pillars at the entrance of the building, which contains the president's office, had been numbered. A swastika had been painted on the fifth. University officials described the act as "wanton depradation."

Blitz Troops Head For Ostend, Short Hop From England

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER

With the German western armies, May 24 (Friday) (AP)—Antwerp, the important Belgian seaport and commercial center, surrendered to German forces in a typical coup d'etat in which the garrisons of two fortifications were surprised and overpowered, it was disclosed to news correspondents today on a tour of the front.

Antwerp's burgomaster thereupon regarded further bloodshed as useless, and ceremoniously handed the city's keys over to the German commander three days ago.

Tunnel Blown Up

Time bombs, set by the Belgians, blew up in the tunnel under the Scheldt river, however, after the Germans had moved in.

The tunnel would correspond to the Holland tunnel under the Hudson river at New York. Otherwise the city was not greatly damaged.

General Georg Von Kuechlen, commander-in-chief of the German army in the Antwerp sector, said today that his force is aiming via Ghent and Bruges, to Ostend, Belgian port directly across from England.

At the same time General Walther Von Richenau is pushing toward Calais and Dunkerque, two French ports opposite England, one of Kuechlen's adjutants explained.

Although a hot battle was raging only a few miles away, Kuechlen found time to receive me.

On Way To Sea

"A stern battle is on at Ghent," he said simply.

"But we are cutting our way to the sea and expect to be there shortly. Our enemies are resisting bravely."

"In addition we have inundations and other difficulties of terrain to contend with," Kuechlen added.

"Nevertheless the odds are greatly in our favor. Our task of the moment is to get the Ghent canal in our hands. That will happen shortly."

Only 30 minutes—as a Messerschmitt flies—separated me today from England. I stood at an airport facing England across the water (location not revealable) for the first time since entering

NAVY DEVELOPS PLANE SMASHER

Destroyers To Be Made Into Anti-Aircraft Defense Vessels

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Congress learned today that the navy is planning a new type of weapon—an aircraft destroyer—to meet the increased effectiveness of aerial bombing attacks on surface vessels.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, said in testimony made public by the senate appropriations committee that it was the navy's purpose to convert a number of destroyers into anti-aircraft defense vessels. He did not detail how this would be done.

Testifying in support of emergency defense fund increases approved by the senate in the $1,473,756,728 navy appropriations bill Admiral Stark said $10,101,000 would be spent in converting 22 destroyers into anti-aircraft vessels, fast mine sweepers and small seaplane tenders.

He said $5,250,000 would be used to speed up the conversion of 900 three-inch guns into anti-aircraft guns and $17,275,000 on the production of one and one-tenth inch anti-aircraft guns, some of which would go on the aircraft destroyers.

War Goes Too Fast For Dutch Student At Michigan State

East Lansing, May 23. (AP)—It's not the fault of Rommy Steensma, Michigan State college senior, that he isn't in Europe in a soldier's uniform.

Steensma hurriedly left the campus May 11 and went to Windsor, Ont., seeking passage to his native Netherlands to join the Dutch army when he learned of the German invasion of his country. He failed to obtain passage, and in the midst of further negotiations discovered his visa had been cancelled. The Dutch resistance collapsed and Steensma has given up. He has returned to his studies on the campus.

MOVE TO CUT OFF GERMANS GAINS GROUND

CALAIS IN DANGER, ANXIOUS BRITISH NATION TOLD

(By The Associated Press)

The allies in fierce twin counterattacks from the north and south blasted dents in the German salient to the English channel last (Thursday) night, imperilling the lightly-held Nazi spearhead pointed at the heart of Great Britain.

The giant allied pincer movement dented the German salient between the Somme and Flanders, where only thin lines of Nazi armored columns are matched against the French, British and Belgian attackers.

A French attack cracked the salient and reached the suburbs of Amiens from the south.

The French northward push in the Aimens area was matched by a southward allied drive some 45 miles to the northeast. The allied troops here reached the outskirts of Cambrai in a coordinated effort to chop off the Nazi wedge on both its top and bottom sides.

CHANNEL PATROLLED

London, May 24, (Friday), (AP) — Strong British naval forces patrolled the English Channel and troops were rushed to south coast towns during the night as precautions against a surprise German invasion across the channel.

At one point holiday makers were called from a pier which heavily armed naval units occupied immediately. Troops began erecting sandbagged machine gun posts on the promenade.

The French northern army aided by British and French forces carried the fighting from the north, between Cambrai and Valenciennes.

Flank Attack Repulsed

A third great battle was in progress some 110 miles to the east, along the Ainse river, in the Attigny sector, southwest of Sedan, where the French reported the repulse of a German attack in the southeastern corner of the broadened German salient. This Nazi thrust was designed to flank the main Maginot line defenses.

The attacks at Amiens and Cambrai were aimed at light German forces holding the spearhead which runs through Abbeville, on the Somme river estuary 12 miles from the channel, and is threatening the Dover straits ports of Boulogne and Calais.

Despite the allied successes British Minister of Information Alfred Duff Cooper gravely told Britons that Calais, only 22 miles from the British coast, "even now" may be in immediate danger.

The British air ministry credited a lone bomber with placing four accurately aimed bombs which blasted a German munitions train from the rails at Geldern, Germany, near the Dutch border, during a night of allied air raids on the Germans' front and rear which penetrated as deep as Leipzig, where an important power station was blown up.

Mussolini Awaits "Hour"

Wave after wave of British bombers and fighters participated in a 6½-hour attack climaxed by the bombing of a German armored division headquarters. Most of the 100 high explosive bombs dropped were reported to have ex-

The commerce department's business advisory council, representing a cross section of American industry, gave President Roosevelt a pledge of cooperation in meeting the nation's defense needs.

The senate, by a 78 to 0 vote, approved a $1,473,756,728 appropriation for the navy and its air force.

The White House announced that on Sunday night President Roosevelt would give the nation a "straight-forward and factual report" on the progress of the defense program.

The house approved and sent to the senate the 1941 relief bill, carrying a $1,111,754,916 fund and including specific prohibitions against WPA employment of aliens, Communists or members of Nazi bund organizations.

An amendment to tighten a Hatch bill provision prohibiting campaign contributions of more than $5,000 was written into the measure by the house judiciary committee.

ESCANABA WILL HONOR HEROES

Biggest Memorial Day Parade In Years Is Promised

Prospects for one of the biggest Memorial Day parades ever seen in Escanaba were reported last night by Elmer Swanson, general chairman in charge of the program to be carried out May 30 under the sponsorship of the American Legion.

All organizations, clubs, lodges and unions have been invited to partake in the parade, scheduled for next Thursday morning, and the following units have already been accounted for, Mr. Swanson said:

National guard company of 70 men and officers; twenty CCC trucks; American Legion colors and World war veterans; municipal band, Spanish American war veterans, Gold Star Mothers, American Legion Auxiliary, Disabled veterans, senior high school band, Knights of Columbus, Masonic Commandery, Boy Scouts, members of D. A. R., police department, Eagles lodge, and city officials. Others are expected to be added to the list.

Two requests will be made by the Legion committee, one that motorists refrain from parking their cars on Ludington street during the time of the parade, and the other that spectators remember to give the proper salute to the flag as it passes. Because of the spread of the war in Europe, the Legion is emphasizing the need of loyalty to the United States, and hopes to make the Memorial Day rites an impressive demonstration of patriotism as well as a solemn memorial to the heroic dead.

A program at Ludington park after the parade will feature an address by the Rev. Fr. F. A. Seifert of Spalding, former army chaplain; a flag raising; and a volley salute to the dead by the National guardsmen.

Kaiser Is Promised Hitler's Protection

With the Western German Armies, May 24, (Friday), (AP)—Adolf Hitler sent a personal letter to former Kaiser Wilhelm when German forces occupied The Netherlands, a high German officer disclosed today.

When Doorn, residence of Wilhelm, was occupied May 14, a colonel appeared at the castle just after noon with a threee-point letter in which Hitler wrote:

1. The German ex-kaiser and his entourage enjoy the protection of the German army.
2. He may remain at Doorn if he chooses.
3. Should the army withdraw, German police will look to his safety.

Wilhelm replied that he would remain at Doorn.

Home Guard Formed To Protect Canada

Ottawa, May 23, (AP)—The immediate organization of ex-servicemen into a "veterans home guard" for protection of military property and "any other purpose that may be found necessary," was announced tonight by Defense Minister J. L. Rogers.

Rogers told the house of commons the veteran force would be uniformed and armed as a military organization and would be commanded by officers who served in the last war.

It will begin with the organization of 12 companies of 250 men each, one company for each of Canada's military districts, and will be enlarged if necessary.

The members will be recruited from among men up to 50 years of age. Their pay and allowances will correspond to that for service in the Canadian active service force.

MOVE TO CUT OFF GERMANS GAINS GROUND

ploded "well within the target area."

Here is how the situation shaped up last night:

The allied front ran from Belgium south along the Scheldt river to Valenciennes, where the allies reported the German salient broken;

From there it goes southwest to Cambrai, where the French cracked the salient from the north, then west toward Arras and southwest from there, cutting the Arras-Bapaume highway;

Then the line drops across the thin German wedge to the Somme river and runs east along the Somme and Aisne to Montmedy.

The French admitted that German columns had filtered through the allied lines between the Somme and Bapaume toward the sea.

The Germans claim between 500,000 and 1,000,000 British, French and Belgian forces are trapped to the north of the German salient.

Premier Mussolini, still keeping the world guessing as to Italy's intentions amid fiery press assertions that the nation's "hour" is at hand, summoned his imperial defense counsel in a move auguring a possible decision.

Greece reportedly called up new classes of reserves, and more Italian troops were said to be pouring into Albania.

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY

Paris, May 23, (AP)—In a double counter-offensive of the Somme and Flanders fronts the allies rallied tonight against the Nazi march to the sea, denting on top and bottom the German salient which extends across France like a pistol leveled at Britain.

The central forces, in a furious push northward on the Somme, reported they had reached their first objective — German - held Amiens.

The northern army, meanwhile, had fought its way southward to the outskirts of Cambrai in Flanders Fields.

The German salient, jutting west to the channel, thus seemed to be imperilled by an allied pincer movement from north and south.

Only a thin line of German armored columns extended between the northern and central allied forces through the hole broken between Flanders and the Somme.

Hole Not Closed

The French military spokesman acknowledged, however, that through this hole additional German units had filtered today in the direction of the sea.

On the northern side of the salient, in Flanders, a pitched battle raged tonight with Germans lashing back savagely at the allied offensive.

Of the details of the fierce struggle on the southern side, little could be learned beyond the fact that the Germans had been pushed back at Amiens.

Amiens earlier had been reported held by only 5,000 Germans.

The Nazis, striving to divert pressure from their spearhead, attacked during the afternoon in the Attigny sector to the east but tonight's communique declared this assault already had failed.

This was the third great scene of battle—an offensive loosed by the Germans in the southeastern corner of their gouge into France, near where the Maginot line is hinged to the lighter, northwesterly fortifications.

Republican Rally Opens In Indiana

Indianapolis, May 23, (AP)—Indiana's political temperature soared to fever level tonight as Republicans from over the state milled through hotel lobbies in a colorful prelude to the party's state convention tomorrow.

The 1,937 delegates to the convention met in district caucuses tonight to select 24 delegates to the national convention at Philadelphia June 24. Four delegates at large will be selected by the convention.

Representatives of four presidential hopefuls worked behind the scene to secure from the Indiana delegation to the national convention. The four are Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, Senators Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, and Wendell L. Willkie, New York utility executive born in Elwood, Ind.

Truck And Coach Company Expands

Pontiac, Mich., May 23, (AP)—Construction of a building with 59,000 square feet of floor space and purchase of another structure with 39,000 square feet was announced here today by the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing Co.

The new building will house the company's sheet metal division and cafeteria. It will be built at once at the No. 2 plant. The building purchased will be used for storage.

Expansion of the firm's facilities was believed due in part to recent orders placed for war materials.

Athlete Sentenced To 10-Year-Term By Judge At Hillsdale

Hillsdale, Mich., May 23, (AP)—Circuit Judge Mark B. Taylor today sentenced Richard Valentine, 18-year-old former high school athlete, to a nine to 10 year term in southern Michigan prison for the shooting last Dec. 22 of Miss Edith Balcom.

The maximum term was recommended by Judge Taylor. Valentine was convicted last week of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder. He admitted at his trial that he wounded Miss Balcom, 18, because she spurned his attentions.

SHIP CHARTERED FOR RED CROSS

Million Dollar Relief Supplies Will Be Sent to France

Washington, May 23, (AP)—The first "mercy ship" the Red Cross has sent abroad since 1914 will be loaded immediately with a million dollars worth of relief supplies at Jersey City and will sail about June 1 for Bordeaux, France.

Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, made this announcement today. He said the martime commission had agreed to make available either the Artegas or the McKeesport, government-owned craft.

Davis said it was decided to send the ship quickly because of the desperate condition of "at least 5,000,000 refugees streaming towards southern France from the northern part of the country, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg."

The supplies will include clothes, drugs, soap, cooking utensils, gauze and a wide variety of food stuffs. There also will be 100 hospital trucks.

Three Red Cross executives will leave Sunday by Clipper plane for France to be there to meet the boat when it docks.

RETURNS TO DeGRAFF'S

Trout Lake — Margaret Drake Elliott, naturalist, writer and lecturer, will return to Phil DeGraff's log cabin resort here in July and August for the second successive season, following her attendance at the 1940 spring session of the west coast school of nature study, conducted by San Jose State college in Death Valley, Calif.

In addition to being available for hikes through the Trout Lake district, and for personal instruction of children or adults in any phase of nature lore, Mrs. Elliott has added talks to be illustrated with her own color slides, not only of the Great Mohave desert, but also of northern Michigan plants and flowers. As a recognized authority on birds, she also may be consulted in the field of ornithology.

ain't going to be any such thing as a coalition cabinet and there never was to be."

Asked whether any Republican had been invited into the cabinet, this official said that "no definite offer of a cabinet post has been offered to any Republican."

To the question whether an indefinite offer of a cabinet portfolio had been made, he said that "discussion was as far as it has gone and it never got to the point of a direct offer being made."

The senate acted on the naval appropriation bill in record time, voting its approval after less than two hours' discussion. The ballot was a counterpart of yesterday's vote of 76 to 0 by which the senate passed a $1,823,254,624 appropriation for the army and the army air corps. Both measures go next to the house, where equally speedy action is expected. Between them they include routine annual appropriations and practically all of the emergency appropriations and authorization recommended by Mr. Roosevelt.

The naval bill included $326,000,000 for the air force, calling for the acquisition of 2,970 planes of which 2,500 are to be of the type used for training pilots. Of the sum, $45,000,000 is to be spent in improving and extending land bases for naval aircraft.

Secretary Morgenthau, in charge of coordinating airplane production, reported that he was obtaining agreements from producers and patent-holders to spread the manufacture of favored types of aircraft and aircraft engines among numerous plants. Attorneys for two large engine companies were at the treasury drawing up contracts which authorize the government to order their particular types of engines from other manufacturers.

After consulting leading industrialists, Secretary of Commerce Hopkins told reporters that many industries may be required to substitute a similar system of pooled standardization for competition in order to prepare the nation's economy for emergencies.

Morgenthau announced the appointment of Dr. George Jackson Mead, vice chairman of the National Advisory Council for Aviation, at $10,000 a year, to head a commission of army, navy and civilian experts who will decide what types of planes and engines should be produced. He called Mead the greatest living authority on airplane engines.

Job for FBI

During the day Morgenthau and Mean consulted Alfred P. Sloan, head of General Motors Corporation, which produces Allison airplane engines.

There were these other developments in connection with the defense situation:

(1) Attorney General Jackson said President Roosevelt had prepared a plan many months ago to meet "fifth column" activities, and added that J. Edgar Hoover's bureau of investigation would be enlarged if necessary to cope with such efforts. Jackson said such activities could not be dealt with on a local or voluntary organization basis, but that citizens could be helpful by reporting to the FBI "acts, threats or evidence of sabotage, espionage or other disloyal activities."

(2) Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC, asked congress for authority to transform his agency into a "defense financing corporation" if necessary, with authority to make loans for the acquisition of needed raw materials and plant expansion and to provide industry with working capital. Use of the authority might not become necessary, he said.

(3) The business advisory council of the department of commerce, beginning a two-day session largely devoted to defense problems, was called to the White House for a late afternoon conference with President Roosevelt.

Alien Control Tightened

(4) Louis Kirstein, Boston merchant, who was prominent among those to whom the World War task of providing uniforms for the army was entrusted, discussed industrial production problems with Mr. Roosevelt.

(5) A special house committee quickly and unanimously approved the president's proposal that the bureau of immigration be shifted from the labor to the justice department, to more closely correlate the control of aliens in the country with the anti-espionage and anti-sabotage activities of the bureau of investigation.

(6) Several senators said that, despite the gravity of the Allied crisis, they saw no disposition here to extend any additional assistance. They pointed in corroboration to the senate foreign relations committee's rejection, 12 to 1, of a proposal that the Allies be sold planes and equipment already delivered to the army and navy.

(7) Senator Gillette (D-Ia) suggested the creation of a "league of American nations" to provide closer cooperation, in connection with war events, than the present "good neighbor policy" has produced.

Plane Experts Gathered

The chief problems involved in expanding the nation's plane output, as conversations of the last few days have revealed them, are those concerning the standardization of type, or the selection of the best types to be produced, and the prevention of "bottle-necks" in the output of engines, the supply of skilled labor and machine tool production.

A corps of experts is to be hired at once, Morgenthau said, to decide after consultation with the army, navy and others which types of plane are best suited to America's defense needs. Then the job will be so to standardize them that these planes, which in the past have been turned out by companies holding exclusive rights to them, may be produced by many plants.

"We need a vast expansion of production," he said, "and the only way we can get it is to concentrate our available productive capacity on the best types."

Truck Hits Train; Ann Arbor Railway Gets $7,292 Verdict

Owosso, Mich., May 23 (AP) — A federal jury has awarded the Ann Arbor railroad $7,292 in damages for a crossing crash last year in which a gasoline truck exploded and set fire to a train.

The jury, sitting in U. S. district court at Grand Rapids, assessed the damages against the Rumsey Truck company of Holland, Mich., whose truck ran into a freight train at McBain on May 18, 1939.

Squadron Camouflaged

Stukas (dive bombers) and heavy bombers were roaring over our heads constantly.

Our particular airport had neither heavy bombers nor Stukas. It was reserved for Messerschmitt pursuit planes, of which 27 fringed the airfield, artfully camouflaged by twigs and the tops of trees. The commander of this squadron is Herman Handrick, winner of the 1936 Olympic decathlon.

Even as we greeted Handrick, eight of his Messerschmitts took to the air and were out of sight in a jiffy.

"These eight planes have started to assist in the land fight," Handrick explained.

"Each plane has either four machineguns or two machineguns and two cannon. They have orders to swoop down on marching enemy columns."

For the first time since moving about in the operations area, we have seen naval officers darting back and forth in speedy cars.

Bridge Big Feat

Antwerp on the whole is but little damaged, but time bombs blew up even after the Germans had moved into what was Antwerp's pride, the Scheldt tunnel, an engineering marvel leading under the Scheldt river. In other words, it was the Hudson tunnel of Belgium.

A big bridge across the Scheldt was dynamited by the Belgians before they retreated.

To construct an emergency pontoon bridge the Germans had to take account of the fact that two changes of the tide and ebb daily meda the difference 15 feet. This presented an engineering problem of the first magnitude.

It was solved by a clever device of windlasses at both ends which first wind supports of the pontoons at either end up and down as the water rises or falls.

The feat was all the more remarkable because it had to be accomplished in the midst of shellfire of the enemy. German army engineers regard this as an unprecedented achievement.

Trustees Of Dodge Estate Dismissed

Pontiac, Mich., May 23, (AP)—Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland today dismissed Mrs. Matilda R. Wilson and Heath J. Ballagh as trustees of the estate of the late Daniel Dodge.

Mrs. Wilson and Ballagh reported that, under a trust fund agreement set up by Daniel Dodge's father, $1,425,536 had been paid to Mrs. Wilson as executrix of her son's estate.

Young Dodge, heir to an automobile fortune, was drowned in August, 1938, while on a Canadian honeymoon. In his will he named his widow Annie Laurine Dodge, former Gore Bay, Ont., telephone operator, and his mother, Mrs. Wilson, as legatees.

Airplane Factory Doubles Capacity

New York, May 23 (AP)—Boeing Airplane Co., will double the capacity of its Seattle plant immediately to expedite filling orders on the company's books, P. G. Johnson, president, announced today.

In the last month orders have increased from $26,000,000 to more than $47,000,000, he said. The new capacity, Johnson added, would be utilized to expedite production of airplanes under the national defense act as well as aircraft and spare parts for the French government.

Tax Sale Disposes Of 75 Descriptions

Munising, May 23—Seventy-five parcels of Alger county property valuing $637.09 were sold for taxes at the annual sale in the court house May 7 and 8. Because of a heavy payment of back taxes just before the deadline for the tax sale, only a little more than half of the descriptions advertised were actually posted for sale.

Parcels advertised totaled 799 and County Treasurer I. J. LaFave estimated that not more than 360 descriptions were read during the sale which included all lands on which taxes levied in 1937 remained unpaid, lands on which taxes levied in any year previous to 1937 remained unpaid and which for any reason were not included in previous year's tax records, and all lands in default under provisions of the Moore-Holbeck and Brown-Berka installment acts.

The redemption period has been shortened from 18 months to 12 months and lands that have reverted to the state under this sale will be lost completely if they are not redeemed before the end of the 12-month period. Lands purchased at the sale by individuals also can be redeemed by former owners if the necessary steps are taken within the time limit.

Activities Planned For Municam Club

Harold Oas has been named treasurer of the Municam club by Miss Lucille Buckley, club president. He succeeds George Goss. The appointment was announced at the club meeting on Tuesday evening in the Mather high school.

Members of the club will each present a number of photographs taken of subjects that would be of interest to tourist visitors at the organization's next meeting on June 4. Three albums of pictures will be made up from those selected and will be placed by the Munising Development club in state tourist bureaus. It was decided at the meeting that the organization would hold their business sessions the first Tuesday of the month during June, July and August and other activities would be placed in the hands of the hikes and entertainment committee.

Photographs taken of pets will be exhibited by the members at the July meeting of the group.

Membership in the camera club is open to anyone interested in photography and those who desire to are welcome to attend the meetings.

Babson Urges More Efficient Democracy

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Richmond, Va. — From the welter of war and armament news of the past fortnight, there are several conclusions that stick out like lighthouses on a dark and rocky shore. First, the war will not be won by Germany until the British navy is scuttled and the French army routed. Second, in a Hitler-controlled Europe, the Nazi air force and the Japanese navy are the two greatest threats to American security. Third, we must cut out "politics" in the United States and form a Coalition Cabinet. Fourth, in the shattered world of 1940, only a spiritual awakening will enable us to meet successfully the economic and political upheavals ahead.

The vital military question that existed when Hitler gave the fateful order to invade Poland last September is still unanswered.

That question is, "Can the German air force break the French army and sink the British navy?" Germany has not won this war until that question is answered in her favor. British sea power has ruled Europe since 1588. Until the Royal Navy is broken, England is still the top-notch European nation. Hitler and his powerful juggernaut have done a magnificent job from a military standpoint, but there is nothing YET which indicates a decisive defeat for the Allies.

Lee and Hitler

If the Nazis' air power can break the French army, they are well on their way to victory; but remember their air force must also sink the British navy. Hitler's position is very similar to that of General Robert E. Lee in the War Between The States. Lee was a brilliant general, but he needed western horses and wheat, northern iron and textiles. The Union's huge, but bungling, land and sea forces choked off these essential supplies without which Lee could not hope to win, no matter how brilliant his blitzkriegs, no matter how daring his lightning thrusts.

Hitler is in the same position. He cannot force Britain and France to their knees so long as they can cut off his food and oil, his iron and copper. So, the big unanswered question is today, just as it was last September, "Can Hitler's air force pulverize the French army and smash the British navy?" America, to be safe, however, must now prepare for an unfavorable answer. A Hitler-controlled Europe immediately changes the entire outlook for American security. If the Germans win, we will inevitably tangle with them over the enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine. Hence, a German victory means a gigantic increase in our tax bills to cover defense costs for this country.

Hitler Victory Costly

It means an immediate outlay of $5,000,000,000 for a second navy to replace the British Navy which is now patrolling the Atlantic for us. In addition, we must spend at least $3,000,000,000 more per year to maintain a sufficient air and land force to back up the two fleets. We would need an Atlantic navy because we cannot afford to take our present fleet out of the Pacific. Not only must we protect ourselves against Germany, but also against Japan. Her navy is growing by leaps and bounds. It is difficult to get accurate figures, but many observers believe the Japanese navy is now about 75 per cent as large as ours. One of the biggest reasons for these gains is the fact that Japan gets twice as much ship for every dollar she spends as we do.

The wide disparity in costs is due to the varying prices for labor and raw materials. There is no eight-hour day in Japan, no five-day week, no labor unions. We are furnishing Japan with many of the essential materials with which she builds her battleships. To Der Fuehrer and Il Duce, the United States is crazy to supply Japan with the materials she needs to build a huge navy whose main purpose is to menace the United States. Hitler and Mussolini would put a stop to such practice in less time than it takes to tell about it. In the tremendous defense job that faces us, nothing—neither labor leaders nor wage-hour restrictions—must be allowed to stand in our way as they did in France.

More Efficiency Needed

If Germany's blitzkrieg wins, we will be living in a hostile world. Totalitarian governments will face us on all sides. For our own security, we must inject some of the efficiency of the dictator nations into our own democracy. As the first move toward such a goal, we need a spiritual awakening which will emphasize that courage is the only security and progress comes only through willingness to sacrifice. There is no question that Hitler chose 1940 because he was sure there was nothing to fear from American intervention. He knew that 1940 would be a year of political disarmament in America.

Many suggestions have been made in the last few days calling for a coalition government. My feeling is that whoever wins the election this November should include in his Cabinet representatives from ALL parties. Whether we get into the war or not, there are great sums to be spent and great problems to be solved. These vast sums should be expended and these problems should be tackled under the direction of a Coalition Cabinet. "Politics" must be prevented from handicapping us in this gigantic task. Moreover, as a solution of our domestic problems, it will give the nation renewed confidence if all candidates will promise to bring a Coalition Cabinet to Washington!

Given Dictator Role

HERR GOEBBELS of the Nazi propaganda ministry, no doubt, will not overlook the opportunity to ridicule Great Britain for her decision to give Prime Minister Winston Churchill the powers of a dictator in directing the war against Germany.

Herr Goebbels quite likely will use the incident to present the argument that a dictatorship is preferable to a democratic form of government. In some respects, he is right. A democracy is based on the ideology of peace, while totalitarianism plans for war and eventually makes war.

The democratic nations of France, England and including the United States, have not desired war, and were unwilling to make the people suffer a lowering of their standard of living so that all resources could be used in building an all-powerful war machine.

Unfortunately, the democratic nations have to emulate the dictator with whom they are engaged in conflict. There is the realization that unless this is done Hitler will achieve a victory and democracy will be destroyed in the end. In the emergency, the laboring classes are temporarily giving up some of the rights they long enjoyed, while business and industry will forego the usual profits in order that Britain might win.

The important difference between democracy and totalitarianism, however, is that the British parliament has retained the right to restore democracy to the people after the war has been won. If they lose to the Nazis, they lose it permanently.

County Flags

THE idea of a county flag, as worked out by a Detroit mercantile establishment, is a meritorious one. Every Michigan county can consistently sport a flag of its own, but care should be taken to make the banner strictly representative of that particular political unit.

Every Upper Peninsula county has some point or area of outstanding interest. Our forts, for example, tie in closely with counties such as Keweenaw, Mackinac and Chippewa. Schoolcraft could display the Big Spring on its flag, and the Ontonagon ensign could legitimately carry a picture of the Lake of the Clouds. Marquette might have an iron mine on its county banner, or a representation of Peter White or Father Marquette, and Houghton would naturally lean toward the depiction of a native copper mine, and so on.

What should Delta choose for its county flag? A map of Little Bay de Noc, or maybe a foot-long silver smelt? There's a chance for an argument here. At the annual meeting of the U. P. Development Bureau in Iron River June 14 and 15, one table for every upper Michigan county will carry the flag of that county, but it is not known at this time what the various depictions and legends will be. The complete list of Upper Peninsula flags will be interesting, and if the job is rightly done every flag will carry a story that would fill a good-sized books.

It goes without saying that one or more of the northern counties should adopt an Indian flag. It would be a serious mistake to leave the Indians out of the picture. They will lend color and interest to any county banner, and their occupation of this part of the State is entitled to recognition.

Lindbergh Was Right

AS the European war gets hotter, the conviction of the American people grows that Lindbergh knew what he was talking about when he warned France and Great Britain that Germany might overwhelm them in the air in the event of hostilities.

Canada was particularly critical of Lindbergh's statements after he returned from Europe and made his famous statement. To the Canadians, and indeed to some Americans, Lindbergh was little short of filthy,—a Nazi sympathizer, a dumb cluck and a liar. Today the blindness of Chamberlain and his cabinet seems little short of fantastic. How on earth the English, living next door to Hitler, and to a lesser extent the French, although they were not fooled so badly, ever conceived that they would have a walk-away if war came, is a problem too deep to fathom. Lindbergh was wide awake and using his head, but his detractors played the fool in a way that may cost them their empire.

Today the criticisms are tuned down to a point where they still try to smear Lindbergh as 'an ignorant young man,' or words to that effect. Lindbergh is still young, but he is far from ignorant. This country could do worse than to put him in full charge of air expansion. He has an old head on young shoulders, and if the allied nations and their dominions and dependencies had taken his advice, perhaps they wouldn't be in their present pickle. He is worth any day a dozen of the Washington gabfesters who wrangle over questions of precedence while danger looms over America.

A Soldier Goes to War

ALL the tragedy of Europe is compressed into one little cameo picture of Paul van Zeeland sailing home to fight, to do anything he can to save what remains of Belgium.

Van Zeeland is a civilized European. As Belgian premier he worked long and hard to bring sanity to the European madhouse. His creed is well shown in his choice of concluding words in a recent series of lectures at Cambridge. They are words of Pasteur, the great French scientist:

> I believe invincibly that knowledge and peace will triumph over ignorance and war; that the nations will come to an understanding, not to destroy, but to build, and that the future will belong to those who have done the most to relieve the sufferings of mankind.

So spoke Van Zeeland less than two years ago. In 1940, sailing for Belgium, battle, perhaps death, he compressed all Europe's agony into these poignant words: "I can't stand it any longer. I've got to go!"

DOING HIS STUFF

(From the Manchester Guardian Weekly)

The phrase "to do his stuff" has still a modern ring about it — one gets a kick from using it in conversation with that air of savoirfaire so typical of the really bright people. What a shock it was, then, to find that sober man George Fox, founder of Quakerism, using that very phrase; yet there it was in his Journal (Everyman edition, page 214) plain enough for anyone to see, and not in italics or inverted commas either, just as if it was an ordinary everyday expression. He it is:

"And so, when the priest had done his stuff they would have had Friends come home to dinner."

Such a discovery makes one begin to doubt other specimens of our bright new slang. Perhaps someone will find that Wesley or Wycliffe talked about having a "show-down."

FIFTH COLUMNS

(Chicago Daily News)

Since Leland Stowe's historic dispatch revealing the details of the "inside job" perpetrated by the Brown Burglars in Norway, the "fifth column" has become the most convenient collective term to describe treason in its characteristic 20th century forms. We now have new modes of treason, but these late editions didn't have to be changed very much—snakes have always been streamlined.

Like other phrases that become intellectual shorthand, fifth column may be worked to death. Already there are signs that the term is being exploited by gangs and groups seeking profit from the world crisis regardless of national safety.

From all sides comes news of proposed activities against the fifth column in America. In general that is a good idea. If ever Americans should be on the alert against sabotage, subversion and alienism, that time is now. But it is equally desirable that we have complete knowledge of the composition of the fifth column. It will not do to be kidded by mock activities of one fifth column gang against another fifth column gang.

Two years ago there was a great commotion in some of the more easily stampeded parts of the country over the antagonistic ballyhoo of Herr Fritz Kuhn's Bund and Tovarish Browder's Reds. Isn't that laughable today? Since Adolf and Joe openly acknowledged that they were brother yeggs out to crack any crib that contained swag, no real American gives a hoot for hair-splitting pleas that Brown is not quite as red as Red.

It is imperative to ferret out and restrain the better-known components of the fifth column such as Reds, professional troublemakers, and exploiters of alienism and unassimilated nationalistic groups, if the country is to be put in a proper posture of defense. But it is even more important at this time to pay closer attention to a part of the fifth column that heretofore has maintained a status of perfect respectability. They are sympathizbers with Hitler, who at one time constituted a not inconsiderable group.

One would think, after the well-known experience of Fritz Thyssen, "man without a country and capitalist without a capital," that no person of substance in this country could be longer deceived about the anti-capitalistic aims of Hitler and his plunder-bund.

But there are unmistakable signs that there is a considerable survival of the notion that "Hitler showed how to handle labor." As late as four years ago a number of American financiers and industrialists were indulging in that kind of talk in little private conferences. It was like that former praise of Mussolini for "making the Italian trains run on time."

Only the dumb clucks among leaders of finance and industry can persist in such illusions now, but, unfortunately, for America, there are still some fatheads and screwballs in places of power. As a rule they are third or fourth generation inheritors of wealth and position, or stuffed shirts over--whelmed by egomania.

All of them are ready-made dupes of shrewd scoundrels who prey upon their fears by purveying Red scares and any sort of raw-head and bloody-bones tales of plots that will induce the scared sap to shell out liberally for "protection" in the form of detectives, "publicity" and the like.

It is easy to spot these elements of the fifth column. Today they are unusually conspicuous because of attitudes and utterances that seem to show that they would prefer to leave this country wide open to invasion, rather than to support a national administratien they do not like, even to the extent of co-operating with Washington for building up national defense.

Granted that the present administration has sinned against sound economics, baited business and harbored an army of alien-minded radicals in office, it is nevertheless the duty of patriots to co-operate with any administration in taking measures to guard this country from invasion and alien-engineered revolution.

Real Americans are willing to let a large part of the past slide over the dam of oblivion rather than let the nation slide to disaster. Those who hesitate and obstruct are operating as a fifth column, whether they think so or not. Nor is the public deceived as they go goose-stepping along a highway of psychopathic hatred that would lead us all to ruin if we followed them.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY THOMAS M. JOHNSON
NEA Service Military Writer

The war is on our threshold. It put its foot in the door at Greenland; from the Dutch Indies, East and West, it may walk in on us. Air power, which made those things even possible, may make them real. That is the picture we are facing today.

This is no scare story. It is an effort to help every American do what he wants to do—be a hard-boiled Yankee realist about one of the most serious situations his country ever has faced.

Such an effort forces itself upon one of those whose job it has been to analyze this war and our relationship to it. My analysis comes after consultation with officers and civilians informed about our national defense. It has also been conditioned by personal experience of the last war and hope never to see this country in another.

In that same hope, the American people have thought, as aggressive arson dropped sparks about them, that they were getting ample fire insurance. What they were getting was a thousand-dollar policy to cover a million-dollar concern.

—U. S. NEEDS STRONG ARMY, NAVY, AIR FORCE—

This concern needs for protection a strong army, navy, and air force. The last two are relatively stronger than the first. But the air power of aggressor nations has rendered almost obsolete not all, but quite a few, of our planes, and handicapped many of our warships.

Even when these handicaps are overcome, the oceans that have been our sure protection, are that no longer. And even the best planes and warships alone cannot surely protect this hemisphere or our part of it. The army is less than half ready.

Now, we are hot going to be attacked today. We shall have more warning than Norway, or Holland, or Belgium. But to prepare against tomorrow which no one can predict and which the highest authorities in Washington believe is very ominous, we have now our last chance.

In the air we should do everything to aid the allies that will not delay our own arming. Expert opinion believes the aims can be reconciled. We should press work on medium bombers where the Germans have outstripped us; on aerial cannon; on more and heavier anti-aircraft guns.

—NEED MORE MONEY NOW—

To protect us at sea, Congress should pass immediately the 11 per cent budget increase already approved by the Senate Committee, plus whatever additional is needed, especially to strengthen existing ships against air attack.

The marines and the army should have trained and ready landing forces to secure outlying points against seizure as bases for bombing the Panama Canal or our coasts.

We should strengthen the Philippines or, better, evacuate them before they involve us in defense that, on excellent authority would cost "astronomical figures" in lives and money.

On land, we should increase the regular army immediately from 227,000 not only to the 280,000 authorized by law, but to 330,000 or more; the National Guard from 235,000 to 320,000, perhaps even the legal maximum 420,000.

That combined force, with reserves, could be expanded quickly to a million men. AND THAT WOULD BE A SMALL ARMY, NOT A LARGE ONE. It would take all of a million men—probably more—to defend this country and its outposts, against a modern attack.

Even our present force of half that number, lacks equipment. The shortage of ammunition is most critical. We lack also enough of various arms; trucks, automobiles; uniforms, blankets, shoes, even medical supplies. For all this the War Department needs $528,000,000, and if Congress gave that sum tomorrow, it could not catch up for a year and more without a stupendous effort.

—CAPITAL, LABOR SHOULD HELP—

For such an effort capital and labor may yet be called upon. Manufacturers who have objected to taking defense "educational orders" must cease these objections in the national interest, and their own.

For the same reason there must be an end of those labor troubles such as delayed France's war preparations, especially in aircraft. Short working hours may turn out to have lost the war for France. We can lose our peace if our arming is too much delayed by failure to adjust the Wages-Hours act to crisis conditions, especially when we have a shortage of skilled workmen.

For we are nearing a crisis. Let us not mistake that. If we do mistake it, if we try to keep out of war with aggressor nations by being slow and weak and flabby, then crisis will become war.

I have said we needed more "fire insurance." Better make it read "life insurance." I have also said that this is no scare story, but realism. I repeat that.

The President will soon begin his safari into the west, with Eleanor probably going along to act as a guide.

Q. How does Maggie define charm in Barrie's play "What Every Woman Knows"? F. A. S.

A. "It's a sort of bloom on a woman. If you have it, you don't need to have anything else. If you don't have it, it doesn't much matter what else you have."

Q. Who made the first movie with a story? R. K. H.

A. The late Alexander Black was one of the earliest camera enthusiasts. He conceived the idea of arranging a series of posed photograph slides, to form, with oral narration, a story. The first of these "Miss Jerry" was presented at his studio on October 9, 1894.

Q. How many hymns were composed by Charles Wesley? M. E. K.

A. Charles Wesley was the author of more than 6000 hymns. More than 500 hymns of John and Charles Wesley are in common use today.

Q. Please give the derivation of the word carnival. I. H. S.

A. It is from the Latin, carne vale, which means farewell to flesh.

Q. Has a President of the United States ever been arrested? J. J. M.

A. Ulysses S. Grant was the only President ever arrested during his term of office. He loved fast horses, always had several in the White House stables, and had taken the highest mark for horsemanship in his class at West Point. His record in the high jumps has never been equalled. One day he was driving a spirited team in Washington, exceeded the speed limit, and was arrested by a colored policeman. The President put up a deposit of $20.00, but never appeared at the police court, and commended the colored policeman for doing his duty.

Q. Where is Seabiscuit the famous race horse? G. H.

Q. How did Tierra del Fuego derive its name? M. B. C.

A. During his entire stay in the Straits, Magellan never caught a glimpse of any of the Fuegan natives. The only sign of life was the smoke from many camp fires, so he named the land Tierra del Fuego, or the land of fire.

20 Years Ago

Complaints of reckless automobile driving, speeding, driving without use of dimmers and other violations of laws have come to the Sheriff's office in such great numbers during the past week that it may be necessary to deputies several temporary motorcops, it was intimated yesterday.

Word was received in Escanaba today of the death in Chicago of Honorable John Power, former United States district attorney for the eastern district of Michigan, dean of the Delta county bar and for many years one of the leading criminal lawyers of this region. He was the first grand knight of the Escanaba council Knights of Columbus and served in that position for nearly 10 years.

The Kipling and Maple Ridge schools are among those which will conclude their year's work on Friday of this week. During the coming summer, three new school buildings will be erected in Maple Ridge township, one with four rooms and two with two rooms.

W. J. Schmidt, for the past several years receiving teller at the Escanaba National bank, has been promoted to the position of assistant cashier of that institution.

The mystery of why the later George Perry, former mayor of Gladstone who passed away several weeks ago, had changed his name from Ed Cattrell was cleared up today with the arrival of his brother Joseph from Fenton. Perry had been blacklisted by the railroads and was unable to get work any place in the country so he changed his name and lived for more than 35 years under an assumed name.

Hollywood Column

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Hollywood—All over the lot: The last scenes to be filmed for "The Life of Knute Rockne" will be those in which the famed Four Horsemen are represented—if, indeed, they are identified at all. One of the former players is holding out for a lot of money.

Before the picture was begun, 27 former Notre Dame football players were asked for permission to use their names and a few highlights from their university careers. Twenty-six answered immediately, said they'd be glad to do it for Mrs. Rockne, for the memory of Rock, and for the school. The other guy wouldn't answer at all, even when Notre Dame wrote and wired him. Finally he engaged an agent, who went to the studio and asked for $5000.

That's where the situation stands at this writing, with the Warner Brothers madder than hops. They don't feel like forking over $135,000 for the privilege of mentioning the names of 27 football players and hiring actors to impersonate a few of them in a few scenes. But the moviemakers also hopped that this would be one picture which wouldn't require a title note claiming that "Any resemblance of characters to persons living or dead is purely accidental . . ."

PUTS CARTOON CHARACTERS WITH REAL PEOPLE

With Walt Disney devoting his talents to features and allowing his short subjects to sag under artistic emphasis which neglects story values, I'm becoming still more of a fan for the Looney Tunes and Merry Melodies of Leon Schlesinger. The producer is one who believes that cartoons should be made for laughs.

I've just previewed a Porky Pig and Daffy Duck vehicle called "You Ought to Be in Pictures" which is the first film in more than 20 years, so far as I know, to combine cartoon characters with real people. Of course the effects are many times better and different than away back in the days of the "Out of the Inkwell" series.

This isn't a series ,anyway. Schlesinger never does a stunt more than once. It deals with the ambitions of Porky, who decides he'll quit cartoons for higher dramatic art—maybe as Bette Davis' leading man.

He trots into Schlesinger's office, gets a release from his contract, drives to Warner's studio, eludes the gateman, crashes a busy sound stage, is tossed out on his ear and after some further disillusionments finds himself back at his old job and glad to be there.

All these things happen with the hand-drawn characters of Porky and Daffy mingling with normally photographed people and backgrounds. The process is too tricky for description.

Terror of Germany and of Russia is more and more obviously determining the policy of the neutral European countries. Secretly they may prefer the cause of the allies, but openly they dare not avow it.
—Leslie Hore-Belisha in the London News of the World, March 17.

Democracy connotes freedom to learn; the public schools are the chief bulwark of that freedom; therefore the schools should themselves enjoy the largest practicable measure of freedom.
—U. S. Commissioner of Education J. W. Studebaker.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Before the late Douglas Fairbanks died he had a remarkable conversation with Hitler's Minister of Propaganda, Herr Joseph Goebbels. Intelligence officers to whom Fairbanks told the story are now dusting it off and examining it carefully to see what significance it has in regard to Hitler's future conduct toward the United States.

Fairbanks and his wife, the former Lady Ashley, were vacationing at Venice one year ago. Goebbels also had come to Venice, and the town was so decorated in his honor that the Fairbanks home was about the only one along the Grand Canal which did not fly the swastika.

Later at the Lido, Fairbanks was introduced to Goebbels, who called him "Zorro", no doubt remembering Fairbanks' picture, "The Mark of Zorro." At a dinner, Goebbels sat beside Lady Ashley and became extremely frank about Nazi ambitions, predicting that Poland would be taken in the near future.

Lady Ashley countered that while Hitler might be able to take over some of the war-born states of Europe, his philosophy never would be accepted by the Low Countries.

To this Goebbels replied: "Oh, France and Great Britain are tired old men. They will never fight."

—INVASION OF U. S. A.—

The conversation then went on to the United States, which Goebbels described as a country of "niggers and Jews."

"They will never fight," he said. "Our political philosophy will sweep the world. When it comes to America, we shall conquer you by methods and means of which you know nothing."

Later, Goebbels said Germany's greatest shame was the fact that she was without a greet fleet, had been forced to scuttle it at Scapa Flow after the World War. Regarding this sorrowful incident Hitler had practised the philosophy of Gambetta, "Think of it always, speak of it never."

And since Hitler's greatest ambition was to secure a new fleet, he planned to let the British off lightly if they surrendered their navy to Germany.

Goebbels did not specify whom the fleet was to be used against, but as he left the Fairbanks' he made this boastful farewell: "See you in the United States in eighteen months."

Fairbanks at first did not pay much attention to the remark, but later got to thinking it over. Finally he decided to report the conversation to intelligence officers.

—FLEET FOR DEBTS—

The Chip Robert proposal to cancel the war debts in return for a mortgage on the British fleet has received a lot of support on Capitol Hill, but not among officials familiar with Great Britain.

They point out the British are already pretty sour on the United States, and that any proposal connected with war debts (which they consider non-existent) would make them so bitter that they might purposely dispose of the fleet in a way prejudicial to the United States.

In fact, the attitude of the British toward the United States is compared to that of General Jan Syrovy, the one-eyed commander of the Czech army. He became so sour at Great Britain after the surrender of Munich that he served as go-between in arranging the alliance between Hitler and Stalin.

—NAVAL INSTRUMENTS—

The Justice Department has just bumped into the discovery that U. S. submarine periscopes, naval range-finders and other important technical equipment used by the Army and Navy is being manufactured in partial cooperation with a German firm.

The American company involved is Bausch and Lomb, well-known manufacturers of optical instruments, while the German firm is Carl Zeiss of Jena.

The whole matter came out during an anti-trust prosecution by the Justice Department, which ended this week in a consent decree by which Bausch and Lomb agreed to refrain from monopolistic practices. Perhaps more important, they also agreed to supply the Navy with marine range-finders for the new cruisers. Previously they had been unwilling to guarantee delivery for several months.

The Justice Department began its investigation of the eye-glasses trust in an effort to bring down the price of spectacles. Bausch and Lomb was among the companies investigated, and Justice Department agents turned up a contract the company had signed with Carl Zeiss.

It looks as if we can go on trusting ourselves for that 45 billion debt we owe us. With things the way they are abroad, there's no danger of us skipping the country.

Now on the market is the combination toothbrush and atomizer that sprays mouth wash as it brushes the teeth. The hair, however, must still wait its turn to be combed.

WHY?

Why all this war?
Why all this strife?
Why all the crime
In our national life?
Why the unfairness,
Why all the greed?
Why are these good souls
In such terrible need?
Why all the rackets?
Why all the graft?
Why all the trouble
In employment and craft?
Why one has nothing
Why another has wealth,
Why one is broken,
Why the other has health —
If you want to stay sane
Till the sweet by-and-by,

Or stop to ask, "why?"

BISHOP URGES REHABILITATION

Independent Continuance of Episcopal Diocese Necessary, He Says

Ishpeming — Rehabilitation of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan to enable it to continue independently was recommended here last night at the annual diocesan dinner by the Rt. Rev. Herman Page, provisional bishop of the diocese.

This action was based on the fact, he reported, that the diocese is as important as many dioceses and missionary districts in the country. Isolation of this diocese, too, he pointed out, would make it difficult to combine it with any lower Michigan group and although much of the territory adjoins Wisconsin, "the traditions of the diocese have been so different that obstacles to union might easily arise."

Too large a diocese would make it difficult to give the churches the personal oversight needed, he declared. "The people are anxious for as much contact with their bishop as possible," he said. Referring to changes in church administration, he pointed out the increase in the creation of special offices of executive calibre, adding he felt they should all have, in any instance, close personal supervision by the bishop.

Much Work for Bishop

"I believe," he stated, "that the Diocese of Northern Michigan offers a great opportunity for any bishop who would like to be his own archdeacon, his own executive secretary, and his own director of religious education. He would have plenty to do, yet he would be in a field in which he could do it well."

The bishop also warned that any plan looking to the combination of this diocese with any other would take several years.

Move for Rehabilitation

Concurring in the recommendation of Bishop Herman Page, the annual convention of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan, meeting in Ishpeming today, steered a course toward preservation of the identity of the diocese.

Every move of the convention was one of rehabilitation for the future of the diocese.

Bishop Page will remain as provisional bishop. So unanimously has he been accepted, no motion to continue his services was even offered, all delegates considering him the head of the diocese without taking formal action.

At the outset, the convention adopted a resolution approving the report of Bishop Page, resolving to rehabilitate the diocese, continue it as an independent unit, stress religious education among children and youth and rebuild the endowment fund for the Episcopate. The finance committee was empowered to take steps necessary to reach this goal.

Much of the work of the convention involved creation and adoption of canons to cover the present situation.

Of chief importance was reorganization of the trust association whereby trustees are to be named by the convention annually and be responsible to the convention instead of being self-perpetuating as in the past. Trustees named were George C. Newton, Iron Mountain, and Charles E. Lewis, Escanaba, one year; Dr. F. L. S. Reynolds, Ironwood, and C. W. Allen, Ishpeming, two years; and S. B. Miller, Marquette, and J. C. Wood, Manistique, three years. All four clerical and two of the three lay members of the standing committee were re-elected.

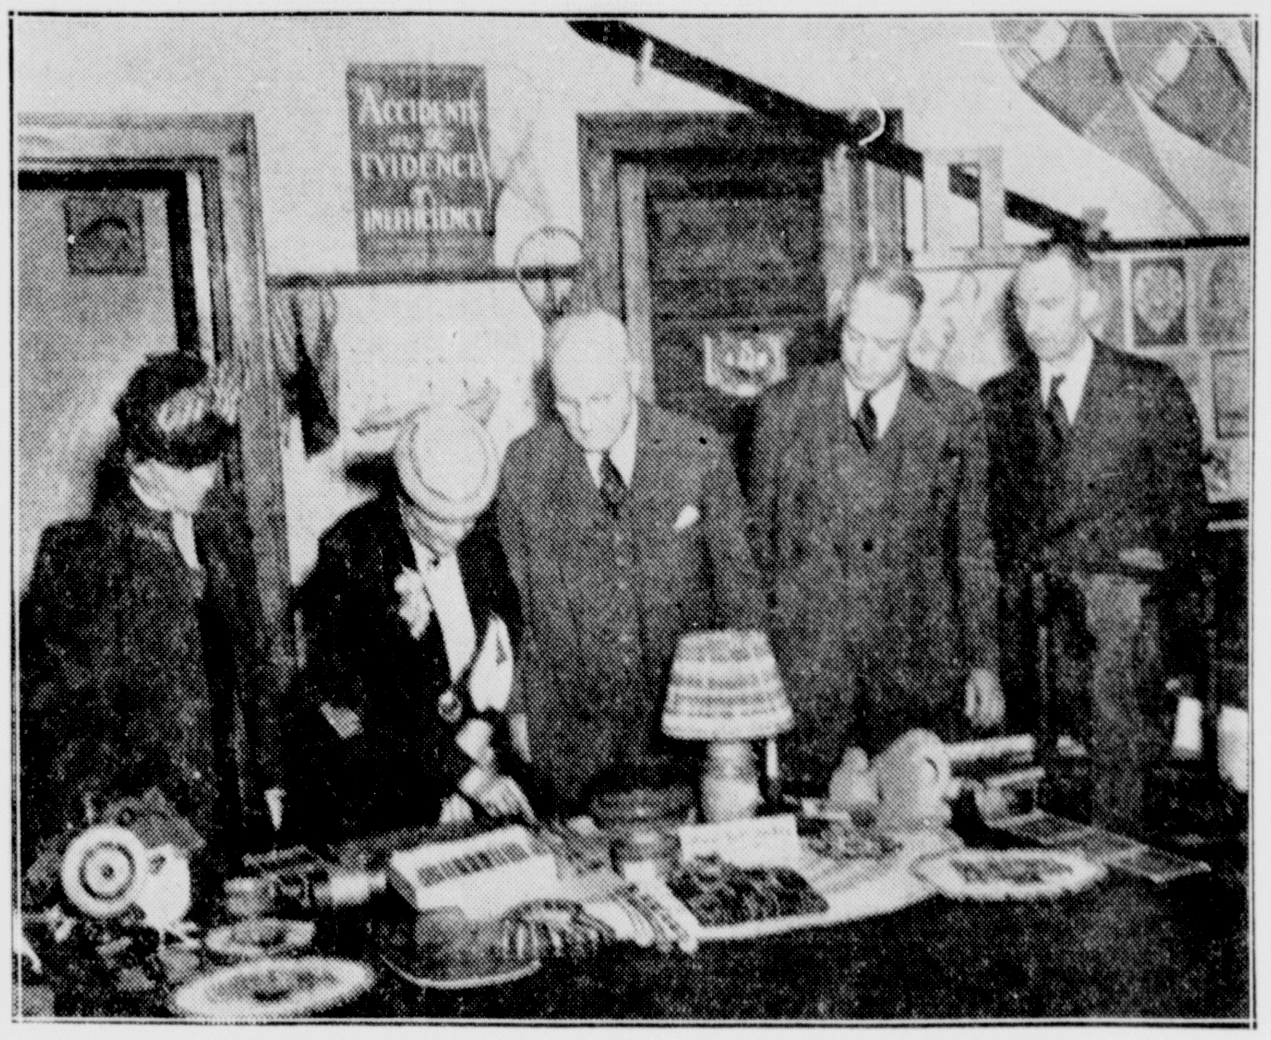
WPA Officials Inspect Projects Here



State officials of the Works Progress Administration made a tour of inspection of various projects during their half-day visit in Escanaba yesterday. State Chief Says WPA Likely To Be Permanent Thing

"Regardless of the political banner under which we continue to sail it seems to me that, at least until the time when other solutions for the vital problem of unemployment are found, the Works Progress Administration program will continue to be a necessary part of any government program," state WPA Director Abner Larned said yesterday while here with other state and regional officials.

Mr. Larned further stated that technological improvements have made possible even greater production now than in 1929 but with considerably fewer men and that industry cannot begin to absorb those who have grown up and tried to secure employment in the past ten years.

City Manager George Bean, who served as toastmaster at the luncheon meeting of the WPA officials at the Delta hotel yesterday, spoke briefly about the local WPA program.

C. A. Sirrine, director of operations, introduced Mrs. Bessie Garner, director of the professional and service division of the state WPA; George Hubley, Chicago, regional director of the professional and service division, and Fred Schouman, director of information.

The officials will also visit in Marquette, Iron Mountain, Sault Ste. Marie and other peninsula cities.

Hen Sits On Nest And Pupils Learn To Read

This is the story of "Biddy and Her Chicks" and of an adventure in teaching reading in public schools these days.

A Barr school first grader told the whole story like this:

"The chicks were under Biddy,
They started to peep! peep! peep!
First three came out.
Then all of them came out,
Then Biddy came after them."

"Biddy" is the Jersey Giant hen who sat on 13 eggs for three weeks at the Barr school, with the first and second graders observing daily, then hatched out nine chicks. Now the children are watching Biddy and her chicks and writing stories about what they see.

Not The Easiest Way

So it all ties up. The tots learn writing, reading, comprehension of what they read and see, kindness to dumb animals and get general information on a natural phenomenon.

This learning from activity, say the educators, is one of the best methods of learning.

But the teachers and others at Barr school will tell you that it isn't the easiest way of teaching. The old McGuffy readers and learning by rote had this beat 40 ways for work the teachers affirm.

For not only the teachers, but even the school janitor, Frank Hirn, came in for extra effort in this chicken project. It was Mr. Hirn, with Miss Ella Bacon, first and second grade instructor, who supervised the hatching itself, which came last Sunday. Mr. Hirn had been assigned to keep watch at the nest on week ends and when the eggs began to hatch he called Miss Bacon.

Ate An Egg a Day

Little red-haired Noreen Gingrass is responsible for the project, Miss Bacon said. Noreen thought the pupils ought to have some living thing in the room and that gave the teacher an idea.

Margaret Ann Schroeder said her father, Paul, of 2125 Fifth avenue south, would furnish the hen. So he sent up one of his Jersey Giant specimens that he thought would make a good "setter". That was "Betsy".

But Betsy wasn't in the mood. In the first place she refused to sit on her nest. In the second place, she ate an egg a day, including replacements, during the 21 days she was tried out and replaced the one she ate with another one freshly laid. She simply didn't take to the idea. Mr. Hirn took the fresh eggs home.

A Bad Example

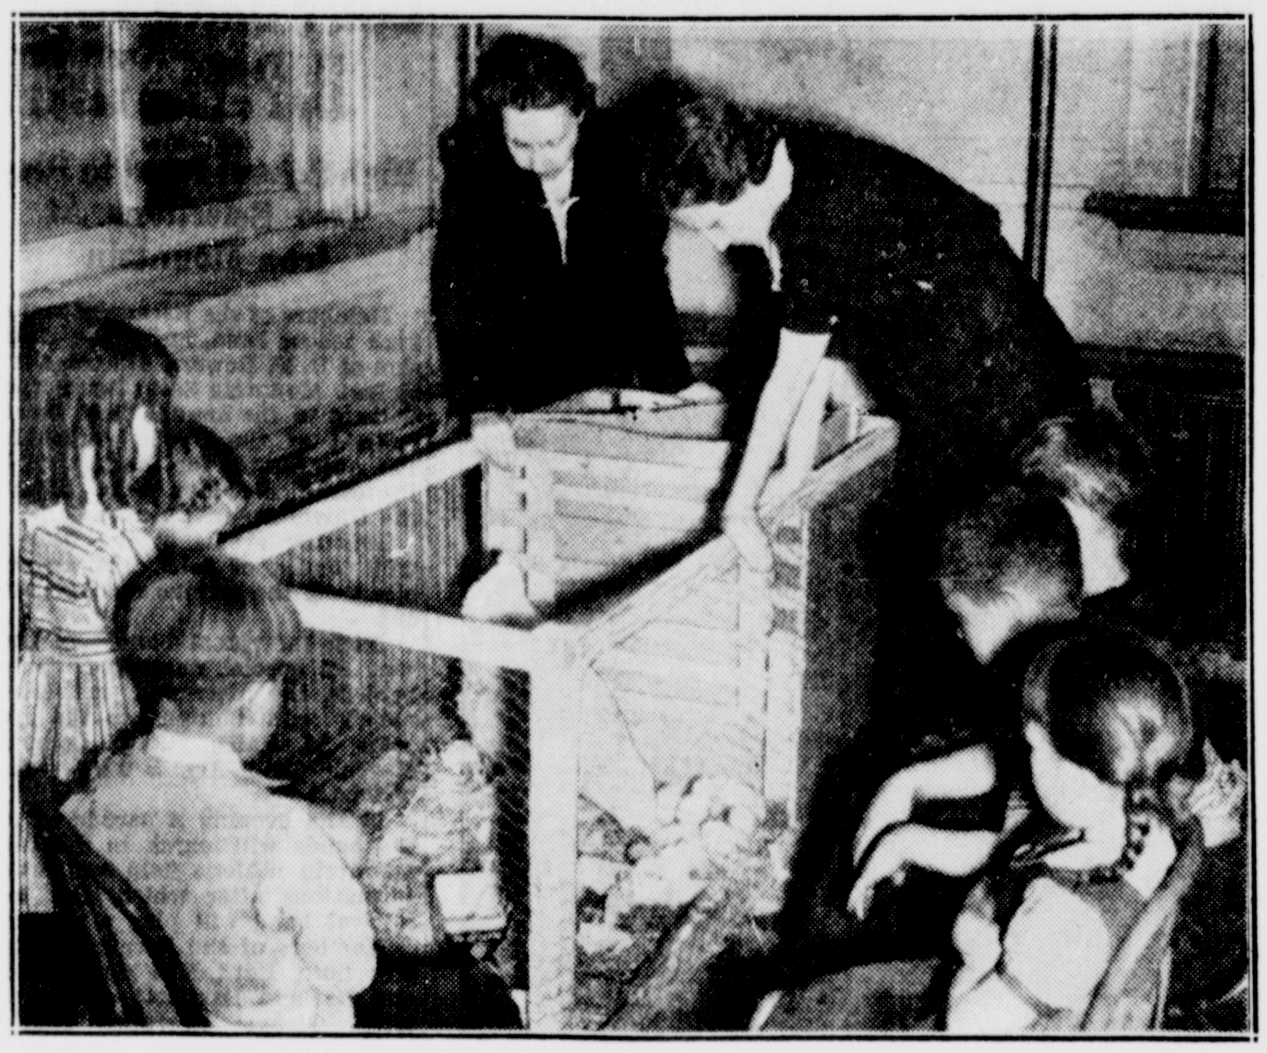
Then Mr. Schroeder sent Biddy along and she performed her duties in the most approved manner. The children wrote daily bulletins of her activities and posted them in the hallway for all the pupils to see. There wasn't much to write, of course, except that Biddy was still sitting there every day, that she had to be taken off her nest to make her eat; in fact, that she was the most dutiful of mothers throughout the hatching period.

The teachers were glad of that. Betsy had not been a very good example of motherhood.

The chicken episode has brought up one other question—Is the proper term "sitting" or "setting" hen? Miss Bacon reported that some experts insist these days on "sitting" but that other authorities still hold to "setting" which is what it always has been and that is the term they used during the project.

The teachers had most of the work, the pupils got the fun and education and Mr. Schroeder is due to get the chickens when school is out.

Life Begins At Barr School



"Biddy" the hen, sat on 13 eggs for three weeks with first and second grade pupils at Barr school observing, and she produced nine chicks which the children are now observing. The project has been used to teach reading, sanitation and nature study, according to the teachers who are: Left, Miss Margaret Skinner, and right, Miss Ella Bacon. Children left to right are Margaret Ann Schroeder, Joyce Pfister, Lloyd Olson, Noreen Gingrass, Boby St. Martin and Jerry Jensen.

Potato Interest In U. P. Is On Increase

The last of approximately 1,000 carloads of potatoes have gone to market from Michigan's Upper Peninsula, and the district is showing more interest in potato growing for 1940 than ever, according to the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

Volume of shipments the past season was down a little, due principally to blight among the smaller growers who do not follow cultural preventive practices rigidly. Growers on 100 acres or more, of whom the number is steadily increasing, came through with fine crops, and many of them will expand their potato acreage this year.

A large part of each Upper Peninsula spud crop goes to market as certified seed and is now accredited as extra virile stock in several midwestern and other states. The larger growers work with local railroad agricultural departments and county agents, and their success in this new potato growing region has attracted much interest. Sales of potato cultivating machinery are reaching a new high in the area for this season.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 5-23

Fine Is Suspended In Fish Law Case

Charged with having undersized whitefish in his possession, John B. Masse, of St. Ignace, pleaded guilty in justice court here yesterday morning.

A fine of $25 was suspended and he made arrangements to pay costs of $8.50. He was permitted to retain the whitefish which were not undersize, but the illegal fish were confiscated.

He was arrested by Conservation Officer Carter of Grand Marais.

CITY RECEIVES CHURCH PAPERS

Deed and Abstract Will Be Checked Before $5,000 Is Paid

The deed and abstract of the Baptist church building and grounds at Third avenue south and Fourteenth street have been forwarded here by the State Baptist convention in Lansing preparatory to transfer of the property to the city for use as a recreational center.

The legal papers will be checked probably today and if all is in order the $5,000 purchase price will be forwarded and the property will belong to the city.

The city council agreed at a meeting a month ago to pay the $5,000 for the building which has been used as a recreation center for about two years with the church reserving space for its services.

No immediate changes are planned, City Manager George E. Bean said, but improvement of both grounds and building will be made probably in WPA projects later.

City Leases Land For Radio Station Near Water Works

The city council has agreed to lease a plot of an acre and a half of ground lying between the city water pumping station and the Sand Point coast guard station to the Delta Broadcasting Co., Inc., for a period of 10 years for $15 a month. The action was taken at a special meeting Wednesday night.

The lease is pending granting of a radio license by the Federal Radio commission, which already has received the petition, according to Gerald Cleary, president of the new company.

George Perrin of Escanaba is vice president and Gordon Brozek of Marquette is secretary-treasurer and general manager of the company.

Plans are ready for the start of building just as soon as the operating license is received, Mr. Cleary said, and it is hoped the station will be in operation by next fall. Both studios and broadcasting towers will be erected on the city property.

Are Times Better? 20 Absent On WPA

When 20 of the 77 men assigned for work on city WPA projects failed to report yesterday, it appeared that most of them must have obtained private employment since a lay-off in the county May 1.

Probably, city officials said, a few will still report within six days, but 15 to 18 probably have obtained jobs. Requisition will be made for more men to meet the shortage.

It is not unusual for some assignees to fail to report because of private employment, but the percentage is high in this case and officials wondered if it might indicate better times.

TRUCK PERMIT CONTEST SEEN

Iron River Petition Considered; Bus Matter Is Pending

The Michigan Public Service commission which convened here yesterday afternoon heard a petition from Amo Scalutti of Iron River for a permit to deliver retail merchandise within a 50 mile radius of Iron Mountain. Little opposition was evident and the matter was taken under advisement for decision later.

Expected to bring a contest today is the petition of the International Oil Co., of Gladstone for a contract carrier's permit to transport oil between Gladstone and several Upper Peninsula cities. A similar petition filed last summer was turned down by the commission.

Railroads and some truck carriers were reported opposed to granting the permit. Attorneys for the Soo Line will voice opposition for the Chicago & North Western, the Escanaba & Lake Superior and other lines.

A petition of the Northland Greyhound bus lines for permission to operate buses between Iron Mountain and Marquette on an intrastate permit has been withdrawn, members of the Michigan Public Service commission reported yesterday as the commission convened here.

The Greyhound lines recently have purchased a bus line formerly operated by William Billings of Ishpeming and the Billings franchise has been transferred with the sale. It remains for the public service commission to approve the sale of the Billings line, but no petition has been filed yet on this matter.

D. S. S. & A. railroad petition for establishment of a bus service to augment present rail service is scheduled for hearing next week in a commission session in Menominee, it was reported.

Present for the hearings here are John J. O'Hara of Menominee, chairman, Florence Keiley of Saginaw and G. T. Shilson.

Firemen Are Wedding Guests

Gardiner, Me. (UP)—No emergency is too great for Gardiner firemen. They extinguished a church fire two minutes before a couple was to be married. Then they attended the wedding as guests of the bride, who was perturbed because only 13 persons were present.

Hayes Is Fined $25 On Reckless Charge

H. C. "Pat" Hayes, 208 South Seventh street, was fined $25 and court costs of $8.25 on a charge of reckless driving when he pleaded guilty yesterday before Justice of the Peace H. E. Ranguette.

He was given a summons by state police after his car had left the road and landed in Little Bay de Noc when he missed a curve a short distance south of Gladstone. He pleaded not guilty on previous arraignment.

•LOVE, COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE

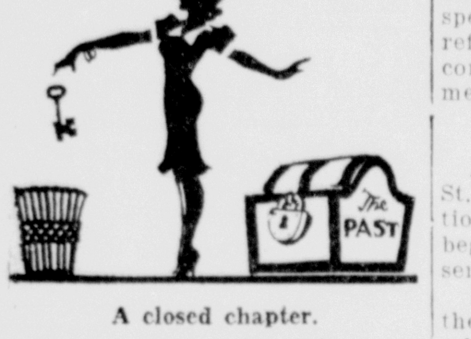
BY ERNEST R. AND GLADYS H. GROVES

Noted Authorities on Marriage Relations

"Shall I confess?" is one of the most troublesome, yet one of the simplest, questions that can plague a man or woman in love. "If I tell, I may be jilted; but if I don't tell, I shall be miserable," goes the tale.

Exactly. If you don't tell, YOU will be miserable. Then what about the misery of your sweetheart if you do tell? You will be putting your burden off onto somebody who is not responsible for it, and doing this in the name of love.

You say you won't feel honest or loyal to your lover unless you tell whatever it is that is troubling you. But does not the greater honesty lie in admitting to yourself that you crave the emotional thrill of confessing, even at the cost of destroying your lover's peace of mind? If you are truly loyal, will you not seek your lover's best interests?



A closed chapter.

The question then becomes, "What is for the best interest of my lover?" Now we must inquire as to the hidden fact that is begging to be told.

If it is something that, in itself, may affect the success of the marriage, there is no room for doubt. It must be told.

The case of the woman who hid from her fiance the fact that she had been seriously ill with tuberculosis illustrates the need of confessing whatever the other person would benefit from knowing. When her marriage was followed within a few months by her having to go to a sanatorium for an extended stay, the husband justifiably felt he had been grossly deceived.

What is over and done with, a closed chapter that will not have any meaning for the proposed marriage, may well remain the exclusive property of the person wondering whether to confess. But what the other person needs to know should be told promptly, that he or she may be free to make a new decision as to the question of marrying.

NEXT: Is He (She) Jealous? A closed chapter.

Church Events

Christian Science Churches

"Soul and Body" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 26.

The Golden Text (Psalms 84:2) is: "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Romans 12:1,2: "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. And be ye not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p.261): "Hold thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your experience proportionably to their occupancy of your thoughts."

Don't Be Wishy-Washy About Your Suntan This Year

BY ALICIA HART
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

Decide to be a cool study in delicate pastels or else an exotic, darkly suntanned beauty. Don't be just fairly light or fairly dark. Be definitely light or dark and, whichever you are, dramatize the fact for all it's worth.

If you make up your mind to get a dark, even, golden brown coat of suntan, then plan to wear pure white with a flash of scarlet at your throat, or on your head or hands. Or wear a scarlet dress with white polka dots and a big, snowy white pique hat and frosty white gloves.

BULKY JEWELRY IS DRAMATIC

Choose chunky gold jewelry to highlight a dark red, rough cotton dinner dress or a lighter red and white print day frock. Consider a heavy, thick choker necklace of hand-wrought silver and large pieces of turquoise to dramatize bright, bright blue. Or red stones, richly set in yellow gold to add the coveted Latin-American touch to poison green.

USE DEEP RED ON THE LIPS

In other words, strive for bold, barbaric-but-not-bizarre effects.

Wear a snowy white toweling robe with a hood lined with red and white polka dot cotton. Or a flamboyantly bright yellow one with an orange-lined hood.

Choose deep red lipstick and nail polish. Use a foundation film which gives the skin a subtly dewy look, dark powder to match your darker complexion.

Remember, however, to acquire your suntan slowly, to use sunburn preventatives conscientiously while doing so. Protect your head and hair from over-exposure. Be faithful to your favorite softening night cream and to hand lotion.

Don't think for a moment that a coat of tan will conceal grooming or makeup faults. Be at your best every day—your suntanned best.

M·J·B
WHY?
"It cost us $5 to find out..."

1 Jack certainly understands women. The other day, for instance, everything went wrong. I was just about to have a tantrum and start throwing things when Jack came home and took me in his arms. "Darling," he said, "let's put on the soup and fish and go out for dinner." I could have kissed him. In fact, I did.

2 We had a perfectly marvelous dinner ($2.00 a plate. Ouch!) and when we came to the dessert, the waiter asked us if we'd like coffee. "Sure," said Jack as if he owned the place. "Bring us the works."

3 Jack sipped the coffee and his eyes bulged. "Gosh," he said, "why don't we have coffee like this at home!" (I could have slapped him.) The waiter smiled. "It's M·J·B, sir, same as you get in any grocery store. We've tried all kinds, but our guests like this best. It's a Richer Roast."

4 "Richer Roast?" says Jack. "What's that?" "Well," said the waiter, "it means you get a finer, richer, fuller flavored cup of coffee no matter how you make it. M·J·B's Richer Roast takes the gamble out of coffee making." Well, Jack was so impressed he left a dollar tip. That's why it cost us $5 to find out about M·J·B. It was worth it!

MAKE THIS TEST YOURSELF

FOR FRESHNESS Open a can of M·J·B. Smell its wonderful fragrance preserved by M·J·B's vacuum pack.

CHARLES RETALLIC DIES

Marquette—Suffering a heart attack at the Powder Mill hydro-electric plant near the city tourist park Wednesday night, Charles Retallic, veteran superintendent of the Marquette light and power department, died about 10 o'clock while he was being taken home in his automobile.

William J. Haley, caretaker of the tourist park, found Mr. Retallic, in a semi-conscious condition, sitting on the running board of his car, which was parked near the plant. Haley put the superintendent in the car and Mr. Retallic, barely able to speak, asked the caretaker to drive him to his home, 327 East Prospect street.

Haley drove into the city, but as he passed the Teachers college campus he decided to take the stricken man to St. Luke's hospital because he failed to answer Haley when the latter asked him how he felt. When Haley reached the hospital Mr. Retallic was dead.

WILL BE ORDAINED

Menominee—The Rev. Charles Michael Herbst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herbst, 511 Spies avenue, Menominee, will be ordained to the priesthood on Sunday by the Most Rev. Amleto Cicognani, D. D., apostolic delegate to the United States.

The ordination ceremonies will take place at 8 a. m. in the Josephinum chapel of Pontifical Josephinum seminary in Worthington, Ohio.

Father Herbst, a well known Menominee young man, was born in Menominee 25 years ago and received his primary education there at St. John's parochial school where he was graduated from the eighth grade. This spring he completed 12 years of philosophical and theological studies at the Josephinum seminary.

GRIES DISCUSSES RELIEF

Marquette—Asserting that in all probability welfare-relief has become a permanent governmental problem, Walter Gries, of Ishpeming, chairman of the state social welfare commission, addressing a U. P. taxpayers' conference here yesterday said that much progress already has been made toward an understanding of its more important phases.

"We are going through a period in which we are discarding many of our old beliefs regarding relief and we are rapidly reaching the conclusion that if we cannot find jobs for the unemployed, we must provide relief," Gries said.

Since the new welfare commission was established, he said, a great deal of time and energy have been devoted to reorganization of welfare-relief administration throughout the state and much has been accomplished on a minimum budget.

World map shows probable—and possible—eventualities if Hitler wins the war, beats British and French to their knees, and dictates peace terms at Muenster, already selected by fuehrer as the place the peace will be made. Muenster was the site of the treaty of 1648 which ended the Thirty Years' War and took from Germany most of the power of the old Holy Roman Empire. Some of Hitler's peace ideas are well known and No. 1 is: destruction of the British Empire. If Hitler could capture the British navy, disintegration of the empire would likely result. France would be reduced to a second rate power in event of German victory and would almost certainly face a revolution from the Right. Italy's share in any war spoils would depend on Hitler's "generosity." Italy would probably become a satellite state controlling such key spots as Gibraltar, Suez and Jibuti—to Germany's benefit. Germany is held almost certain to lose a long war, but in the event of such an unforeseen victory, military observers believe the state of exhaustion of Hitler's armies would prevent terms as harsh as those outlined. Hitler himself, of course, is the only man who knows Hitler's mind.

CONLON URGES TAX ECONOMY

Says Taxpayers Should Organize to Reduce Government Costs

The time has come for economy in government, and taxpayers must organize to achieve this objective, Ernest T. Conlon, general manager of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, said in an address delivered at an Escanaba Chamber of Commerce forum luncheon yesterday noon.

Another speaker on the program was Gen. John H. Schouten, Grand Rapids, president of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, who also discussed the problem of rising governmental costs. Taxes must be reduced before there will be a return of prosperity to this country, he said. General Schouten also discussed briefly the need for a chamber of commerce in every community to unite various elements to work for the common good.

Harry D. Brackett served as toastmaster.

Conlon pointed out that the cost of government in Michigan last year was $243,000,000 against $100,000,000 ten years ago, and added that the total of federal, local and state taxes in Michigan last year reached the staggering sum of $736,000,000, or $2,000,000 per day.

"That is too much money, and there should be a reduction," Conlon asserted. "Efficient administration and expenditure of public money is what the state chamber wants. Decreased cost of government can be brought about without causing anyone to go without food or clothing. Intelligent, constructive leadership are needed to see that taxpayers get the most for their money.

Mr. Conlon said there are so many hidden taxes nowadays that many persons are not aware they are taxpayers. He mentioned that there are 136 different taxes on a pair of shoes. He declared that the state payrolls have been increasing steadily, and expressed the conviction that every department of our state government could be operated efficiently with 20 per cent less personnel.

He announced plans for a statewide tax conference to be held in Grand Rapids on June 13, and urged that representatives be sent to the meeting from Escanaba and elsewhere.

Officers Confiscate Undersized Whitefish

Alfred LaValle of Garden, manager of the Wolverine Fish company, paid a fine of $50 and costs in justice court yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of possession and marketing of illegal whitefish.

Approximately 600 pounds of undersized whitefish were confiscated by conservation officers, who seized the shipment in a routine inspection aboard a Soo Line train.

Delay Finding Owner

While the shipment was seized Tuesday, delay in arraignment until yesterday was due to difficulties in finding correct ownership of the Wolverine Fish company. Officers questioned Senator James Dotsch, who admitted having owned the company but who said he had leased it about three years ago to Nels P. Jensen of Escanaba.

Jensen admitted having leased the business but said that he did not have an active interest in it, leaving its operation to LaVelle. Dotsch told officers he still owns the buildings which house the company. Officers could find no record of the company on file in the courthouse.

Conservation officers boarded the Soo Line train Tuesday night, paying the regular fare. Working against time, because of the fact that their inspections had to be completed before the train got to the Wisconsin border, they inspected fish from four shippers. They found no illegal fish in boxes shipped from Fayette and Eckerman but found enough undersized whitefish in all 45 boxes they opened of the Wolverine Fish company of Garden to confiscate all 45 boxes. An additional 60 boxes had to be allowed to continue on the way because officers were unable to examine them before the Wisconsin border was reached.

Can't Be Delayed

Whitefish, to be legal, must be at least 1¾ pounds if dressed and two pounds in the round. The shipment was in the round.

Eleven conservation officers, including some from the regional headquarters at Marquette, took part in the search. The state conservation laws allow inspection of shipments of fish at any time, a warrant not being needed. However, when in the hands of bonded carriers, the shipments, because they are perishable, cannot be held up. They may be inspected in transit but they may not be delayed. That fact made it impossible for officers to inspect the other 60 boxes of the same consignment. The fish were being shipped to Chicago and New Pork.

Fr. McKevitt To Give Sermon At Baccalaureate

Rev. Fr. Nolan B. McKevitt, assistant pastor at St. Patrick's church has been chosen by Escanaba high school seniors to deliver the baccalaureate sermon this year.

Baccalaureate exercises will be held at the William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium in the junior high school Sunday evening June 9. Admission will be by ticket only.

Honor day exercises will be held Tuesday afternoon, June 11, and commencement exercises will be conducted Thursday night of the same week.

Doings About Capitol

Lansing—A smaller crop of fruit is in prospect for Michigan.

That news from Verne H. Church, statistician in charge of the Michigan cooperative crop reporting service, together with a warning that rainfall has been only 60 to 70 per cent of normal over the past 1ι months, has created an air of uncertainty about Michigan agriculture income for 1940.

Only 88,000 acres of the 152,000 acres sown to rye last fall are expected to be harvested for grain—the smallest rye crop for the state in more than 50 years.

"Prospects for hay and pasture were not as good on May 1 as in other recent years," stated Church. "Not only has growth been retarded by cold weather but rains have been insufficient in many sections. Furthermore, there is a considerable deficiency in subsoil moisture in many counties of southern Michigan."

As for fruit outlook, he says: "Fruit growers are looking for a somewhat smaller crop of fruits this year, a usual sequency in years following a large production such as that of 1939. Cold weather has held back the opening of the fruit buds; and blooming which has just begun, is week or ten days later than in normal seasons. The recent cold weather was not severe enough to cause any damage apparently to buds.

"Low temperatures in January thinned peach buds in some sections but prospects are favorable for a fairly good crop in all districts except an area in southern Michigan extending from the eastern part of Berrien county eastward and northward to the southern past of Ingham county. In that area, temperatures of 15 to 18 degrees below zero occurred which is a little frigid for peach buds ordinarily to withstand."

Affect of War

Prof. E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture, Michigan State College, points out that with the exception of bean and pork products, prices of agricultural commodities are about the same as one year ago before war was declared. So far, the new European conflict has not put millions into the American farmers' pocketbooks, as optimistic forecasters loudly proclaimed last September.

"The prices of beans and pork products have increased in recent months," said Dean Anthony, "and there is some basis for speculation that Canada is buying supplies here for shipment overseas now that England has been shut off from Denmark as a leading source of butter, pork and lard.

"The hog people believe that pork prices will continue strong due to Canadian demands. You will recall that prices jumped after declaration of war last September however. Certainly if the war continues another year the result will be an increased demand for American war munitions which in turn will help to stimulate demostic consumption of food and will tend to raise food prices.

"However, it is only wishful thinking to believe that the war is going to benefit the farmer of Michigan in 1940."

Oats, Rye, Beet Sugar

While the deficiency in rainfall remains a threat to 1940 crop yields, it has put the ground in fine condition for early spring plowing.

Oat and rye conditions are miserably poor, but winter wheat looks fairly good and the wheat acreage abandoned due to winter injury is estimated at only 12,000 acres which is the smallest loss in many years. A yield of 20.5 bushels per acre is indicated which compared with 21.0 bushels per acre obtained last year.

Beet sugar people report that the war is not expected to affect sugar prices in this country. At present a large surplus of sugar stocks remains on hand. Indirectly through improved industrial conditions the sugar industry may benefit through better prices, but this will be a long-range development, certainly not in the present picture for 1940.

Canned fruits rely on demestic consumption largely, while dried fruits have been exported heavily. Consequently, little change is anticipated in Michigan on fruit prices with regard to the war. California, on the other hand, may suffer considerably from loss of export trade.

Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly reports that departmental savings will reach $250,000 for the 1939-40 biennial.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown favors a separate budget for state aid funds (those which are returned to local governments for local spending) and another budget for state funds.

Robert Riley, state purchasing director, ridicules alleged claims of special favoritism to Frank McKay. Declaring that he had only met McKay once, Riley said: "He asked no special favors then nor since of the purchasing department."

Murray D. VanWagoner, state highway commissioner, says surveys show that automobile traffic in Michigan will double in the next 20 years. "We are faced with this staggering realization of what the future holds, knowing full well that our present highway facilities are inadequate," he told the American Road Builders' association upon being honored at the conclusion of a second term as national president.

Luren D. Dickinson forecasts a Republican victory next November.

Headquarters for O. L. Smith as a possible candidate for governor have been opened in Detroit in the Book building. The Lansing headquarters will be opened before June 1 in charge of Leigh H. Thomas, Ann Arbor, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate.

Mel McPherson, state tax commission chairman, is taking advantage of the Dewey boom movement (for which he was named manager) to put out feelers again as a candidate for the governorship.

Passage of the civil service constitutional amendment is being privately conceded by some state politicians, most of whom are scared over its possibilities at the ballot box.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, May 23 (AP)—Traders suffered another mild attack of "war nerves" in today's stock market and leaders slumped 1 to 4 points before attracting last-minute support.

The list started off with gains running to 3 or more for steels, aircrafts, motors and specialties. The news from Europe turned a bit sour, however, and trends soon began to waver. At the forepart of the final hour a selling blast knocked quotations to the lowest of the day. For a brief interval the ticker tape was behind. Then buyers stepped in and extreme losses were substantially cut or transformed into modest advances in many cases.

The result of the erratic performance was that the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point net at 38, or .3 of a point above the year's low. Transfers totalled 1,642,450 shares against 2,132,630 yesterday.

The recovery shift that got under way Wednesday was stemmed apparently by further conflicting dispatches from the battle fronts, warnings of British officials that the country was "in fearful danger," a fresh attempt of the Nazis to smash allied troops in Belgium and northern France and indications Hitler forces were gathering on the English channel for a blitzkrieg at England itself.

Despite cloudiness of the overseas picture, some speculative contingents still derived bullish stimulation from the home business front and expectations of strong props for industry in the administration's huge rearmament program.

Rails kept their balance notwithstanding today's figures on last week's freight loadings disclosed a contra-seasonal decrease.

Bonds were mixed, and commodities irregularly lower. Wheat at Chicago was off ½ to 1 1-8 cents a bushel and corn down 1-8 to ½. Cotton rallied at the last and closed off 25 cents a bale to up 20 cents. "Free" sterling slipped but the French franc steadied.

Aluminum, Ltd., sloughed off 13 points in the curb. Lesser losers included E. W. Bliss, N. J. Zinc, Standard Steel Spring, Creole Petroleum and Niles-Bement-Pond. Slightly ahead were Electric Bond & Share, Nehi Corp. and St. Regis Paper. Volume here was about 280,000 shares compared with 366,000 the day before.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, May 23 (AP)—The wheat market tried today to extend its recovery of the week but when securities prices weakened grain slumped.

Wheat was up as much as a cent in the first hour but this was lost quickly. Thereafter, the market was extremely nervous and at times quotations were as much as 1½ cents below yesterday's close. Final figures were ½ to 1 1-8 lower than yesterday, with July at 82 1-8 to 82 3-8 and September 82 3-8 to 82½, or around 4 cents above the fixed minimums.

War news continued to dominate the trade and for a cue as to how things were going abroad most grain traders watched the action of securities prices. The confused battle situation tended to keep many dealers to the sidelines awaiting developments.

Corn closed 1-8 to ½ lower, July 62, September 61 1-8 to 61¼; oats ¼ to 3-8 off; rye 1 1-8 to 1¼ lower; soy beans 1-8 off to ¼ up and lard 15 to 20 lower.

The domestic situation in wheat included reports of spreading black rust in the domestic southwest but apparently the crop situation has been so much overshadowed by war that traders are disregarding it. In fact, wheat prices now are only about 5 cents higher than a year ago even though the crop outlook suggests a much smaller harvest.

Consideration of supply and demand conditions is made all the more difficult because of the war traders said, for example, the potential European market for grains has not been diminished but merely has been made less accessible, grain experts pointed out. Thus, the problem of feeding refugees and the methods to be used is causing much uncertainty in the trede here.

In this connection, Washington reports that government officials are against any further acreage reduction in major crops because of loss of foreign markets were pertinent. Continuation of the storage and export subsidy programs was implied by this situation, traders said.

Corn weakened despite the sharp supply reduction due to limited country selling. The 12 principal markets received only 396,000 bushels compared with 532,000 a week ago and 966,000 a year ago. Shippers here sold 53,000 bushels of corn and 54,000 oats but bookings of corn to arrive totalled only 41,000.

July oats sold off to 33¼, the minimum.

Lard advanced early on reports that the government is buying lard for relief and may request establishment of minimum prices. However, weakness of grains and cottonseed oil caused the late decline.

New York, May 23 (AP)—Selected utility loans stepped forward fractions to around 2 points and maintained gains until the close in the bond market today, but most industrials and rails gave up early advances with stocks, and closed lower.

It was a twisting, churning market, with trends hinged to shifting European war tides. Transactions got up to $8,516,000, face value, compared with $8,574,150 Wednesday, but in the main buyers were hesitant to take on wide new commitments until the war news was clearer.

That buying was highly selective was indicated in the Associated Press average of 10 utility loans. The measure slid to a 1940 low, as did the average of 10 rail bonds, yet some utilities turned in gains.

Treasury loans showed gains of 5-32 of a point to losses of 12-32.

German 5½s of '65 lost 2 at 16 in the foreign sector, and the 7s of '49 dropped 7-8 at 18 1-8. Sharply advanced after recent weakness were Belgian 6s at 48 1-8, up 3½.

Because of excessive greed for human greatness and for greater power the law of God is repudiated and the spirit is blinded.

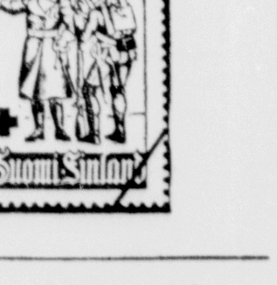
Fighting Finns Pictured On New Red Cross Series

FINLAND has remembered heroes of past wars with Russia in a new group of four Red Cross semi-postals, released during the closing days of the newest Russian invasion. The stamp, above, shows a soldier of Charles XII, (1700-1721) and below, officers of the war of 1808-09 are pictured. The two other values, not reproduced here, show a bowman and a horseman of the Thirty Years War.

Finland was the battleground for centuries of war between Sweden and Russia, from 1300 to 1809. Peter the Great occupied all of Finland after defeating the Swedes and Finns at Poltava in 1709, retained Viborg.

But complete Russian domination did not come for 100 years. After a deal with Napoleon, the Russians invaded Finland. Sweden offered small resistance and the Finns waged a guerilla warfare for five months. Russia won and Sweden gave Finland to the conquerors.



On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

LOOKING WEST FROM GIBRALTAR

S. S. Washington, May 21.

"Governor Landon demurs against the President's proposal to make a coalition government, on the ground that he does not wish to impair the vitality of the two-party system. Democrats generally withhold public comment but privately see the proposal as stupid and silly." Item from the ship's news.

• • •

Dorothy Thompson

It would seem to this column that the vitality of the two-party system has been almost extinct for the last eight years and that there is little probability that it will be revived in the next four.

While sitting at Gibraltar — the rock on which an empire is so precariously resting, and with half of Western civilization at stake — the forthcoming party conventions seem to belong to another epoch and to have little relation to reality. In fact, the remembrance of the last ones, with their atmosphere of a Shriners' jamboree, fills one with a faint nausea.

• • •

However this year turns out in Europe, one prophecy is fairly safe to venture: The party system of political government, as it has been practiced for a generation in most democracies, will not survive. Already in Paris the word "politician" has become an expression of contempt, for the people of France are furiously aware of how much of the nation's essential and priceless time has been lost in irrelevant party bickering; how often necessary plans have been wrecked or delayed for purely partisan reasons; how often the party leaders have frivolously pandered for votes, instead of telling the people the truth; how criminally they have sought the interest of special pressure groups, regardless of the crisis of the nation.

A democracy which degenerates into a party squabble in which the interests of the politicians transcend those of the nation as a whole is a menaced or lost democracy in this hour.

Nor is such party politics the inevitable accompaniment of democratic government. I have seen a democracy in Europe which can be extinguished only from without and by force, and that is the Swiss. It is the freest country in the world today, in which the tolerance of divergent opinion goes so far as to permit four separate languages and a degree of cantonal autonomy far surpassing our state rights; numerous parties and active political life; an emphasis on differentiation expressed in a flag for every city and village, and a hatred of dictatorship which goes so far that Switzerland has no president even for four years, but government by a council of seven, which changes its chairman every twelve months. Yet, in emergency, the instinct of this, the oldest existing democracy, is to fly together and accept a voluntary discipline in behalf of Switzerland which is imposing—as tough and as closely knit as a totalitarian state.

And Switzerland almost alone among democracies can say with confidence, "A hundred years from now Switzerland will be a democracy, or she will not be."

In this hour it would be well to bring out again Washington's often quoted but seldom read farewell address and read what he had to say on the evils of factions—and by factions Washington meant just those sorts of bodies which our political parties have become, groups whose object is less to furnish constructive criticism, honest opposition and proposals for the modification of policy and more to take or to turn over offices for the benefit of existing or would-be job holders and of organized or sectional groups.

Such an operation of the party system invariably moves away from government by, for and of the people, to government of, for and by the pressure groups. The least represented of all in our party system, the real forgotten man, is the citizen who, able to stand on his own feet, earn his living, support his family and pay his debts, asks least of the state for himself but carries its greatest burden. He pays his taxes without grumbling and volunteers first for its wars; he is the patriot, the man with the sense of the whole community.

There are hundreds of thousands of such men and women in America who, in the forthcoming elections, will see a new ticket for which they can vote without serious reservations.

Realizing the exceptional qualities of the President's leadership, which rise to their greatest under pressure of emergency when action must be swift and courageous, and conscious, too, of his prestige in the world, they would like to avoid a change. They would like to retain the experience, imagination and intuition which the President has regarding world affairs, in which he stands head and shoulders above any candidate yet proposed.

What they think of the President in this connection does not extend to all his advisers, and not at all to the fundamental economic philosophy of the New Deal—to that popular frontism that believes that the less you produce the more you will have, the more you spend the richer you will be; the philosophy that mortgages uncreated wealth the while it slows down creative profit; that dissipates and discourages saving; that makes the population increasingly lax and increasingly dependent in the very moment when it must face the most formidable competition from the tough and the toiling.

• • •

France is paying today with the lives of her men for the same philosophy which struggled for a forty-hour week while her neighbors were being forced to work sixty hours. It is better—and the people of France now know it—to work long enough to produce a tank than to be rolled into the ground by one, or to capitulate and work the sixty hours for a foreign overlord.

But France is also paying for the cupidity of her capitalists, who sterilized their wealth rather than put it at the service of the nation; who withdrew in haughty disgust rather than face the issue; who set the very standards which they criticized in their workers, unwilling to match sacrifice for sacrifice.

Now, today, they all fight side by side, with unexampled heroism, with the sacrificial devotion of a really great people, knowing at last that there are values common to all of them, values for which they offer not a few working hours or a percentage of profit, but their life's blood.

• • •

But, whatever the outcome may be, God help the politicians, whether they have been politicians of labor or politicians of capital! For they have been below the level of the nation itself. No one will survive who has thought more of himself, or of his group, or of his interests than his country.

Foresight is not a quality of democracies. It seems to have become a law of their natures that they must teeter on the very brink of a precipice before they realize their danger. Then they are firm. But while they teeter on the precipice one big shove may send them over.

DANGER ROMANCE AHEAD

• SERIAL STORY

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

MONNIE MILES—her mania for fast driving almost wrecked her romance.

LARY COLLINS — newspaper reporter, hunting the murderers of his brother.

* * *

Yesterday: Larry and Monnie become better friends. One night he asks her to go to a dance, but she has a date with Bentley. When Mike is delayed, Larry stops to chat. He questions her about the accident on Dead Man's Curve. She refuses, angrily, to talk about it. "I have a right to know," Larry tells her. "That man was my brother."

CHAPTER VII

Monnie relaxed under the grip of Larry's fingers. She looked up at him, unbelieving.

"Your brother?"

"Yes."

"But the man was never identified. He was burned so horribly."

"I know it was Hugh." Larry tried to make his voice calm. It wasn't easy, talking to her like this. His hands dropped from her shoulders. "When I didn't hear from Hugh, I came down to look for him. I've been all over the west, searching fo him," Larry lied. "I hear about this accident, this unidentified man. I took a chance it might be Hugh. I was right. A dentist's examination confirmed it."

"I'm sorry, Larry, terribly sorry." The touch of her hand on his arm was comforting, her sympathy was sincere. She sat down again, gently pulled him to the swing beside her. "Tell me more about him, Larry."

He rolled a cigaret, tried to keep his eyes from her.

That Monnie knew more about this accident than she was telling, he was sure. But how could he find out, without arousing her suspicions. Perhaps she might be involved— No, Monnie would never be mixed up in a crooked deal. But if she loved Bentley. . . . A woman will do almost anything for the man she loves.

What was Bentley's role? Hating Bentley as he did, it was easy for Larry to accuse him of some part in Hugh's death. Bentley was on friendly terms with a bank robber—this Bill was working at the Circle-Cross.

A match flared in the darkness. Monnie's hand was touching his own. Larry liked being near to her. He was tempted to put his arm around her, pull her close, kiss those inviting lips. Monnie's voice brought him back to the present.

"This brother of yours, Larry —"

"Hugh was a swell guy," Larry began. "Married, lived down-state. He was—he was in the insurance business. Burglary insurance. Traveled a lot. But he wrote me regularly, and wrote to Betty, his wife, every day.

"When Betty didn't hear from him for a week, she wired me. I came down and we've been looking for him ever since. That was more than five months ago." He hoped Monnie wouldn't ask why, as a newspaperman, he couldn't have checked accident records sooner. She didn't, was apparently too deeply engrossed in her own thoughts.

"And to think," she said abruptly, "I was the cause of the accident. I killed your brother, Larry."

"Monnie! You don't know what you're saying."

"It's true, Larry. I didn't mean to, but I did. It was my fault! Oh, Larry!" Sobs shook her body, and Larry's arm went around her then, to pull her head down on his shoulder. After a few minutes, she stopped crying, dried her eyes and pushed away from him.

"Don't blame me too much, Larry. If I hadn't been driving so fast—"

• • •

"It happened up on Dead Man's Curve," she began. "That's on the highway about half-way between here and Mike's. You know where you leave the concrete to turn into the Hayhook. . . . If you went straight on, you'd dip down into the canyon and then climb a long hill to go by Bentley's. The curve is halfway up the hill. It's a sharp turn, but it's well marked and not dangerous unless you try to make it too fast. Going up, you have the inside. The canyon floor is about 300 feet below the curve and it's almost a sheer drop."

Larry could feel her grow tense as she forced herself to go on.

"On the night of the accident, Mike called me. It was late but he said he'd just come back from Chicago, flown down with some friends and they wanted to meet me. He'd brought me some presents, too, and some things I'd asked him to get for me. He couldn't leave his guests, he said, so would I drive right over.

"I was on the way inside of half an hour. I always drive fast and I went up the hill doing about 50 or 60. Then at the curve—"

She paused briefly, got a new grip on her emotions, then went on.

"I must have been about 200 yards from the curve when this car came down the hill. I couldn't stop. The driver apparently made no effort to turn, when he saw my lights. His car crashed through the barricade, plunged over the cliff and rolled down into the canyon.

"I stopped as soon as I could, pulled off the road a little and ran back to where the car had disappeared. Far down in the canyon, I could see flames shooting up from the wreckage of the car. Then I heard a shot.

"I stood there, paralyzed, and suddenly, Mike was beside me. Together we scrambled and slid down to the car, tried to pull the dead man from the burning wreck. Mike finally succeeded, got burned himself.

"Pretty soon there were other people around and at last two highway patrolmen arrived. Mike talked to them for a bit, then helped me climb back up to the road. He brought me home."

"But that's not the story you told at the inquest," Larry broke in. "You testified that the car went over the edge before you reached the turn—"

"Mike made me say that, Mike and Daddy," Monnie admitted. "After that accident at school, and the others I had been in, Mike said the coroner would never believe I hadn't forced the man off the road. I didn't want to lie about it, Larry"—she was begging him to believe her—"but Mike was right. With my reputation for fast driving, and because I was the only witness to the accident—they might have tried me for manslaughter. The man was dead—I couldn't help him any, and— Oh, Larry, I wanted to tell the truth, but Dad said Mike was right. And Pete Barnes, too. Won't you try to believe me Larry?"

Looking at her, Larry knew she was telling the truth. Hugh's death had been no fault of hers. Hugh probably saw the lights of her car, speeding toward him, took the curve rather than crash into her head-on. Hugh was like that. Larry would have done the same thing, had he been in Hugh's place.

"I believe you, Monnie," he said. "I don't blame you."

• • •

He paused a minute, puzzling over an unanswered question.

"How did Bentley get there so fast?" he asked.

Monnie had an answer for that. "Mike said he went outside to wait for me, right after he called. He saw this car go racing down the highway, swinging from side to side, as if the driver were drunk. Mike was afraid there would be a wreck if we met, was terrified to think what might happen to me if we met on Dead Man's Curve, so he hurried out to stop me."

"Bentley said Hugh drove like he was drunk?" Larry demanded.

"Hugh was drunk, Larry. The autopsy showed he had been drinking, and a broken whiskey bottle was found in his car."

"But Monnie," Larry countered, "My brother never drank liquor in his life."

Immigrant from Europe Enjoys Blessings Here; Supports Scout Drive

The privilege of being a citizen of the United States, where boys are educated along the lines of personal character and individual liberties are preserved, is cherished by virtually everyone in this country.

But this is a story about an immigrant from Europe, now a citizen of the United States residing in Manistique, upon whom the privilege of American citizenship and American ideals have made an indelible impression.

In Europe, and particularly in the totalitarian states of Europe, the youth organizations are founded upon the basis of militarism, this man points out. Youth is raised to be cannon fodder for the wars that have plagued the continent for centuries.

The ideals of the Boy Scout movement in America, in which youth is taught to become useful citizens, self improvement is featured, and character building is paramount, have appealed forcibly to this immigrant.

Last year when the annual Boy Scout subscription campaign was in progress, this man was overlooked by the solicitors. Recognizing his responsibility, he telephoned R. G. Hentschell, finance chairman, to inquire what his contribution should be.

Advised that his own conscience should be his guide, the man responded with a generous check.

He said at that time, "When I was a boy, I did not have the opportunity of being a Boy Scout. I appreciate the opportunities and blessings that have been mine under the American flag and I can fully understand what this glorious country means to the youngsters of today.

"I have observed the splendid progress that the Boy Scout movement has made in Manistique and I desire to do my part to aid in its growth."

The Boy Scout subscription drive will be held on June 5 this year. This man will be out of the city on that date, so he phoned Mr. Hentschell again this week and informed the finance chairman that he was sending a larger check this year.

"With war raging in all its fury on the European continent, I am more grateful than ever of the good fortune that has brought me to the United States," he declared.

PAPER COMPANY WELCOMES RAIN

Power for Wet Machines Assured for Normal Supply

A week of almost incessant rainfall brought a chorus of disdain to a large number of Manistique residents, particularly to fishermen who were eager to take advantage of the opening of the season for the inland lakes.

But the heavyrains were received with considerable gratification by officers and employes of the Manistique Pulp & Paper company, by pulpwood operators, and by businessmen whose interests areaffected materially by the paper company payroll.

Each year, during the spring months and high water period, the paper company operates its wet machines to grind pulpwood for use during the months when the water level of the Manistique river is too low to operate the grinders.

Annually about 2,000 tons of pulpwood are ground and stored for later use.

The usual early spring rains were not forthcoming this season, however. The wet machines were placed into operation on April 7. By the middle of last week, only about 1,000 tons of groundwood had been stored, half the normal supply, and the end of the high water period was in sight.

Then came the rains. Pesterday R. G. Hentschell, business manager of the paper company, reported that the rainfall has assured the normal storage of 2,000 tons of groundwood.

The wet machines will be in operation for another ten day period.

SATURDAY WILL BE POPPY DAY

Little Flowers Have Increased Meaning This Year

Poppy Day will be observed in Manistique and throughout the nation on May 25, the Saturday before Memorial Day, Lottie R. Weber, President of Manistique of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced today. On that day all Americans will be asked to wear memorial poppies in tribute to the World War dead and to aid the living victims of the war.

The little red memorial flowers will be distributed here by women and girls of the Manistique Unit, under the direction of Rhoda Ekberg chairman of the Poppy Day committee. All contributions received for the poppies will go to Legion and Auxiliary welfare work for the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead.

"We feel that Poppy Day will have increased meaning to America this year", said Lottie R. Weber, "because renewed warfare in Europe has renewed the memory of those boys of ours who gave their lives 'over there' twenty-two years ago. It is for them that we put on the poppy each year, to show that we still remember and honor their sacrifices. It is the flower which grew where they fell and which now blooms on the coats of Americans who appreciate their service.

"Events of the past year have shown us clearly that to be secure the United States must have men ready and able to defend the country, willing to give their lives in its defense, if necessary. We can be thankful today that we had such men twenty-two years ago. From them we can draw inspiration for the patriotic service necessary to maintain our freedom and democracy against today's dangers. Wearing their flower over our hearts means that within our hearts their love of America still lives."

DIB BOVIN TO MANAGE TEAM

Real Practice Session Held Wednesday Evening

The Gladstone Redskins got their first real workout of the season Wednesday evening when they went through a session under the direction of Manager Albert "Dib" Bovin.

Hitting, fielding and pitching drills marked the session.

Nearly all of the members of the 1939 team were on deck and they were augmented by Norm McIntyre, star hurler, who is expected to add strength to the locals this summer.

Among the men out for practice were Vern Ward, Eddie Olson, McIntyre, Joe Stambulich, Pat Cannon, Pete DeMenter, Jim Fitzpatrick, William Mackie, Stanley Srock, Jim Cannon, Geboy Couillard, Harry Kircher and Maurice Mastadge.

Appointment of Bovin as manager returns to the game one of the baseball stars of other days. Bovin's knowledge of the game is expected to prove a decided asset this season.

FUNDS SOUGHT BY RED CROSS

Direct Mail Appeal Made Locally by County Chapter

A local appeal for assistance to the American Red Cross to aid invaded nations of Europe is sought in a letter being forwarded to local residents by Mrs. C. S. Norton, vice chairman of the County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The text of the letter:

"With the invasion of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg, the war has entered a phase which will inevitably and at once bring widespread and appalling suffering to millions of helpless men, women and children.

"In order to inaugurate widespread relief measures, the American Red Cross is at once launching a campaign for a minimum war fund of $10,000,000. The local chapter is cooperating in attempting to raise its share of the proposed fund. The officers believe that all contributions should be made on a purely voluntary basis, and because of this, no solicitation will be made other than by means of this communication.

"All Red Cross societies of Europe, excepting Germany, have requested aid for their civilian population, and we trust, therefore, that you will assist us in alleviating some of this suffering."

Contributions may be left at either of the two local banks, Mrs. Norton stated.

Teachers' Club Has Delightful Party

The Gladstone Teachers' club held its annual spring party and the last of the school year Wednesday evening at the Chicken Shack. A 6:30 o'clock dinner was served with members being served at individual tables for four. Miss Ethel Empson was a guest of the club.

Place cards were combination place and tally cards with instructions printed on the inside. At the conclusion of each course guests moved to different tables. Conversation for the various courses was limited to: 1, school problems; 2, world affairs; 3, miscellaneous. A fine of one cent was imposed for talking about anything other than the designated topic. Mention of school affairs when world matters was the subject brought a 5 cent penalty.

Five tables of contract were in play with high honors for men going to A. R. Watson and high for ladies to Mrs. Hagle Quarnstrom. There was also one table of smear and one of bridge keno.

Miss Clara Laidlaw was chairman of the event and she was assisted by Hagle Quarnstrom, Donald Dush, Lillian Vine and Gertrude Kee.

DR. PENG FU HERE TONIGHT

Chinese Pastor Speaking at First Lutheran Church

Dr. Peng Fu, of Junan, China, head of the Lutheran church of China, will speak at the First Lutheran church here tonight at 8 o'clock. An invitation to hear Peng Fu is extended to the general public. There will be no admission charge but a free will offering will be taken. This is to be used for mission work in China.

Dr. Peng Fu came to the United States about a year ago upon an invitation from Lutheran churches of this country and since his arrival has been traveling throughout the nation visiting various Lutheran churches, presenting the conditions in China today and expressing appreciation for the assistance from the United States towards missionary work in his homeland.

When a lad, Peng Fu visited a mission school at Junan, his home town, and as a result of this influence renounced the traditional idol and ancestry worship common in his country and became a Christian convert.

Following study at the mission schools he entered the Luther Theological Seminary at Shekow where he was one of the first students at the newly formed seminary. At the conclusion of the seminary course he returned to Junan to assist the missionaries and to teach in the mission schools.

He was met with much opposition from both his family and community.

Eleven years ago he became pastor of the Junan congregation and in 1930 was chosen as president of the Hupeh Synod of the Lutheran church of China. In 1937 he was made president of the entire Lutheran church of China, a post which he still holds.

His main address will be made in the Chinese language and will be translated into English by his interpretor, the Rev. Anton Lundeen, a former missionary to China.

Communication

WPA PERSONNEL

I think it is about time the citizens of Gladstone know what is going on in the WPA ranks in town.

You, the people, are paying 25 per cent on the projects sponsored here in town and it is quite a drain on you to do this, yet they hire outside men to handle them.

First they get a man from Schoolcraft Co. for District Engineer, and this same outsider turns around and hires a man from Rock as supervisor over a Gladstone project, he claims that in all Gladstone there is not a man capable of handling the job, but they find one in a little spot on the map like Rock.

I think everyone realizes that Gladstone is hard enough pressed to provide jobs for their own people, without sending $1,000 a year out of town.

Outside trucks, too, seem to have preference over Gladstone ones, and they have worked while our people's trucks stood idle.

It is things like this that smells bad and brings out the rotten way that the WPA is being handled here.

We just finished re-electing a city commission and I believe it is their duty to see that the people of Gladstone get a square deal and that they keep Gladstone sponsored wages in Gladstone.

Very truly yours,
Gerald Madden

Tigers Snag Yanks; 3-2; Cubs Win Night Game, 4-3

NEWSOM TAKES PITCHING DUEL

Single, Double and Fly Produce Victory for Detroit In Ninth

Detroit, May 23, (AP) — The comeback campaign of the world champion New York Yankees struck another snag today when the Detroit Tigers pushed across a run in the ninth inning to win a pitching duel between Buck Newsom and Red Ruffing 3 to 2.

The struggle got away to a blustery, home-run beginning with Joe DiMaggio and Hank Greenberg each hitting a four-bagger with a man on base. But then the two veterans tightened the screws for a scoreless stretch until the last of the ninth.

Ruffing Effective

After Greenberg raised a fly to open the final frame, Rudy York singled, Bruce Campbell doubled and Pinky Higgins was purposely passed to fill the bases. Then catcher Billy Sullivan slammed a fly into center to score York with the winning run.

This was only the third time the Tigers had been able to beat Ruffing since the 1936 season and he was as effective if not as spectacular as Newsom today.

The "showboat" struck out seven of the Yankees and gave up hits to just three—three to Charley Kelly, two to Red Rolfe and one to DiMaggio, whose homer came after a single by Rolfe. It was Newsom's fourth victory against one defeat.

Three Got Passes

Ruffing, in absorbing his fourth loss against two wins, fanned three and gave three walks, one of them to Charley Gehringer ahead of Greenberg's circuit clout.

After that first inning, in which DiMaggio scored behind Red Rolfe and Greenberg followed Charley Gehringer across the plate, Newsom and Ruffing engaged in one of the tightest pitching duels of the season.

Here is how it went until the ninth:

Higgins led off in the second with a double and was stranded.

Rolfe and Charley Keller each singled with two out in the third, but Rolfe was picked off second for the third out.

York walked to start the fourth and went out in a double play.

Babe Dahlgren walked to open the fifth and remained on first base.

McCosky Caught Stealing

In the same inning, singles by Barney McCosky and Greenberg and an error were wasted when McCosky was caught stealing.

Keller doubled in the eighth with one out but got no farther.

Ruffing had retired nine successive batters when York hit a sizzling grounder in the ninth that Frankie Corsetti was unable to handle. Campbell, hitless up until then, dropped a double into left field, sending York to third. Higgins was intentionally walked to fill the bases.

Sullivan's fly to DiMaggio sent York home with the winning run, but the New Yorker's peg to the plate hit the big first baseman in the back as he slid home.

The Tigers go to Chicago to open a three-game-series tomorrow with the White Sox. Tommy Bridges will pitch the first game.

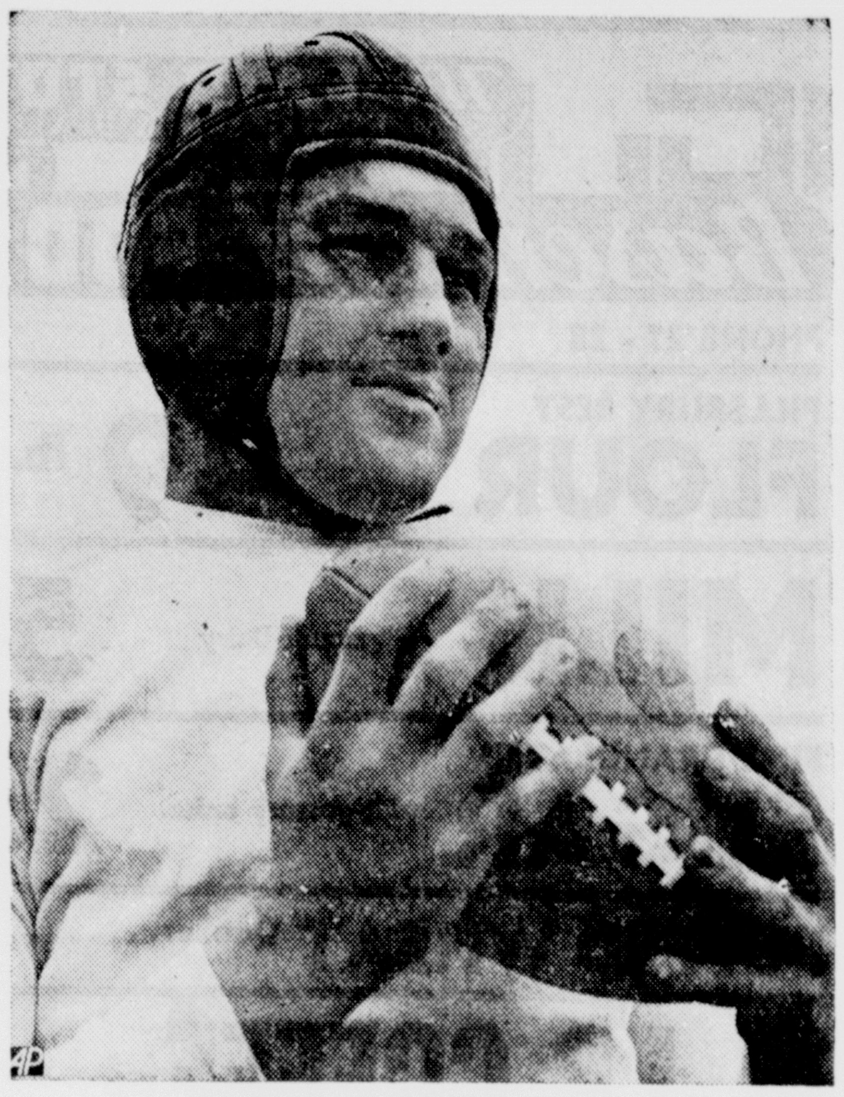
Spartans Tackle Normal 9 Today

East Lansing, May 23. (AP)—Heading into the home stretch of a successful baseball season, Michigan State runs into the Michigan Normal's powerful nine here tomorrow.

With John Kobs, considering that the Hurons may be the strongest collegiate team in the state this season, has named George Monroe, his No. 1 pitcher, to start. Day Dennis is expected to carry the pitching assignment for the visitors.

Wins Michigan Football Award



George Ciethaml (above), 185-pound freshman quarterback from Chicago, has been named the winner of the Chicago Alumni trophy, awarded annually to the University of Michigan football player who shows the greatest development and the most promise in spring practice.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

THERE IS A BOSSIBILITY that Nahma's strong track team will not compete in the regional at Houghton Saturday . . . school was concluded last week and many of the boys are working and can't get away . . . Rock's chances of capturing the class D title will be weakened if Nahma does not enter . . . Nahma is strong in the track events where Rock is weak and would split up points with Channing, another favorite also strong in the running events . . . Rock's main strength lies in the field events where most other class D teams are not strong . . . the class B section looks like a dog-eat-dog affair with team balance probably being the contributing factor to victory . . . with the right breaks, Escanaba should have a good chance to come through . . . they'll probably capture the pole vault and shot put and have a good chance of capturing one or two of the hurdles events . . . St. Joe's biggest hopes rest on the flying feet of Mike O'Donnell, whose sprinting and hurdling should bring points.

Love is an ocean of emotion entirely surrounded by expenses.

ST. NORBERT COLLEGE frosh met Mission House college in a track meet the other day . . . the mile event was won by a fellow named Whiterabbit from Mission House . . . the pole vault event was won with a leap of eight feet . . . my, my, such height . . . Schoolboy Impo, who pitched for the Ethiopian Clowns against Escanaba in baseball about three years ago, is considered the No. 1 pitcher of negro baseball this year . . . he has a terrific fast ball in spite of his lack of size . . . he recently hurled against a Cincinnati team in Milwaukee . . . from the looks of that box score yesterday, the Yanks don't seem to know that they aren't supposed to be hitting these days.

A safe investment is made by doubling your money by folding it once and placing it in your pocket.

IF GEORGE OSTROOT, University of Michigan shot and discus ace from Viborg, South Dakota hadn't been brought up on the George Washington legend of "never tell a lie," Michigan's 23 meet victory string in track wouldn't have been shattered by Pittsburgh . . . Ostroot heaved the discus nearly two feet further than the winning distance of John Bazyk, Panther star . . . Judge Bill Watson didn't see anything wrong with the throw but Bazyk asked Ostroot if he hadn't stepped over the foul line . . . "Yes," George said, "I did. The throw doesn't count" . . . the two point difference between first and second would have given Michigan the meet.

HILLTOP CREW USES BALANCE

Marquette Has Individual Stars But Depends On Many Men

Milwaukee, Wis.—While Marquette university's successes in track over the last two seasons have been achieved by team balance and reserve strength, Coach Conrad M. Jennings' varsity squad is by no means without its individual stars.

Balance, however, will be the main reliance of the Blue and Gold aggregation in the defense of its Central collegiate conference outdoor title in the Marquette stadium, Friday afternoon and night, June 7. It was this balance which brought the team the Central collegiate indoor championship at East Lansing, Mich., last March, when it did not win a single clear-cut first place.

Best of Marquette's individual performers in the major meets should be Earl Stolberg, pole vaulter from Iron Mountain, Mich., and Don Vosberg, javelin tosser from Dubuque, Ia. Stolberg recently cleared 14 feet, ½ inch in a dual with Purdue, for one of the best collegiate performances of the year, while Vosberg has thrown the spear 206 feet, 2 inches this spring.

The Hilltoppers, however, may score in as many as 10 other events in the June 7 3-C championships. On the track, they have strong entries in Capt. Charles Beaudry, Maynard Black and Walter Shelton, sprinters; Herman Carr, quarter miler; Len Pruski and Johnny Hohler, half milers; Ely Francis, two miler; Bob Shurilla, George Foster and Art Schwope, hurdlers, and two good relay teams.

Prospects in the field events, outside of Stolberg and Vosberg, are not so bright but Shurilla can score in the broad jump, which he won last year, and Don Bertsch may tally in the pole vault.

Nelson And Demaret At Lansing Sunday

Lansing, May 23. (AP)—An 18-hole exhibition golf match will be played at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Lansing country club by Byron Nelson, national open champion, and Jim Demaret, top money winner on United States links. They will play against the Michigan open champion, Marvin Stahl, and Ollie Clark, local professional.

Long Uphill Tilt Gives Browns 8-7 Triumph In 12th

St. Louis, May 23. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns climaxed a long uphill battle with three runs in their half of the twelfth inning today to edge out the Washington Senators, 8 to 7, and gain an even break in their two-game series.

George McQuinn started the Browns on their winning rally with his second home run of the game after the first man had been retired in the twelfth frame. Rip Radcliffe singled and scored the tying run on a three-bagger by Chet Laabs who followed him in with the winning tally on Don Heffner's long fly to George Case.

PHILLIES FIGHT FOR 13 INNINGS

Two Doubles and Single Give Chicago Decision At Shibe Park

Philadelphia, May 23 (AP)—Doubles by Bill Nicholson and Al Todd and a single by Bob Mattick gave the Chicago Cubs two runs and a 4 to 3 victory over the fighting Phillies in a 13-inning game at Shibe Park tonight.

A crowd of 7,801 that braved a drizzle and chilly weather saw the Phils almost pull the game out of the fire in their last time at bat, scoring one run and having the bases full when Pinchhitter Herman Schulte grounded to Mattick for the final out.

Hugh Mulcahy, of the Phils, seeking his fifth straight win, and veteran Charlie Root, of the Cubs, had a pitching duel for ten innings. Root went out for a pinchhitter in the eleventh but Mulcahy went the route.

Art Mahan singled to open for the Phils in the thirteenth. Arnovich and Pinchhitter Wally Berger flied out, but Merrill May walked. Mueller singled, scoring Mahan. Vance Page replaced Vern Olsen who had taken Root's place. Ben Warren beat out an infield hit to fill the bases, but Schulte, batting for Mulcahy, grounded to Mattick to end the game.

Mather High Sends Eight To Houghton

Munising, May 23—Eight Mather high school men will take part in the regional track and field meet held Saturday in Houghton.

Munising athletes who earned the right to compete in Houghton by placing in the Negaunee meet last Saturday are: Nadeau, first in 120 high hurdles, tied for first place in pole vault, third in 200 low hurdles; Matson, tie for third, fourth and fifth in pole vault; Montcalm and Ames, second and third in shot-put; Passinault, third in broad jump; Shampine, first in 100 and 200 yard dashes; Beaudry, third in 440, and Olson, first in high jump and second in 880.

At the Negaunee meet Munising placed second with 54 points, Iron Mountain, first, with 66 and Marquette, third, with 27.

Old Rival Indiana May Mean Trouble For Michigan Crew

Evanston, Ill., May 23, (AP)—Michigan, with another of its "balanced power" teams, will start after its fourth straight Big Ten outdoor track and field title at Dyche Stadium tomorrow—and may run into trouble from an old rival, Indiana.

Friday's program of preliminaries in 10 events will find Michigan without the services of two top ranking stars, Ralph Schwarzkopf, two mile champion, and sprinter Alan Smith. Indiana, led by Roy Cochran, Campbell and Archie Harris, was rated a chance of snapping the Wolverine title string.

Michigan was conceded points in a majority of Saturday's finals, however, and as a result of its second, third and fourth place point-getting ability was again in the familiar role of favorite. The principal Wolverine strength apparently will rest with Warren Breidenbach, a quarter miler who may run the 220-yard dash, the mile relay team, Don Canham in the high jump and Dye Hogan in the 440 yard dash.

Indiana was conceded points in the quarter mile and low hurdles with Cochran, who may also place in the broad jump; the half mile and mile with Kane, and the shot put and discus with Harris.

WILDCATS NEAR LEAGUE TITLE

Slugging Northwestern Crew May Grab First Flag In History

Chicago, Ill. — Northwestern's slugging power, reflected in its leadership in team hitting and the presence of three regulars among the first ten in individual batting averages, has brought the Purple within grasp of their first Big Ten baseball title in history.

A sweep of the two-game series with Ohio State this weekend would insure the Purple of an undisputed title. Illinois, its season ended with nine wins and three losses, Michigan, and Minnesota, retain mathematical chances for the title or a share. Northwestern has won eight and lost two games. Iowa, defending champions and with a current record of six wins and two losses, has been eliminated from title contention with two games remaining.

George McKinnon, the fiery shortstop whose extra-inning double blasted Iowa's title hopes two weeks ago, rapped out seven hits last weekend to pace the Northwestern attack and come within two percentage points of the Conference batting leadership. Bob Smith, Wisconsin third baseman, holds the lead with an average of 441. His single appearance last week, as a pinch hitter after a leg injury had forced him out of the lineup, brought an added base hit.

Northwestern's other two leaders are Bill DeCorrevont, who slid off his record slightly to an average of .395, and Nick Conteas, hitting .372. The Purple team average is .285.

His season completed, Walter "Hoot" Evers of Illinois apparently has slugging honors for the year to himself. His final average of .353 was built on 18 hits for 37 bases and he accounted for 16 runs with his bat.

John Goldak of Northwestern and Lylye Bond of Michigan each added a victory last week to maintain pitching leadership with four wins and no defeats.

Overlin Outboxes Garcia For Middleweight Title

BY SID FEDER

New York, May 23 (AP)—Ken Overlin, the ex-sailor boy from Washington, won the New York-California version of the world's middleweight championship from Ceferino Garcia tonight with as "cute" a job of boxing and ring generalship as Madison Square Garden has seen in a long time. Overlin weighed 159; Garcia 154½.

Before a slim, almost cozy, little gathering of fans, the much-travelled veteran took a 15-round decision from the slugging Filipino. What he really did, however, was to outfox, outbox, outmove, outfeint—in fact, almost -everything—Garcia throughout the tussle. The Filipino was a baffled battler when it was all over.

Only on rare occasions was Garcia able to set himself to throw his deadly right hand, the occasion was even rarer when he was able to land cleanly with this so-called "bolo punch." Usually Overlin took it on the shoulder, the arm, or didn't take it at all, dancing in close out of harm's way.

The Associated Press score card gave Overlin 11 of the 15 rounds, the last five of them in a row. One of Garcia's heats, the tenth, was taken away over Overlin for low punching. The decision was unanimous on the part of Referee Arthur Donovan and both judges.

The crowd was announced as 7,587 and the gross gate as $15,710.

Tonight's festivities may be the first step in the clearing up of the long-standing middleweight mess. Overlin's manager, Chris Dundee, is willing to take on Al Hostak of Seattle, recognized as champion by the National Boxing association, and Nat Druxman, Seattle promoter, is in town talking over with Mike Jacobs the possibility of taking the fight to his home town. However, Garcia had a return-match agreement in his contract for tonight's affair and may decide to exercise that in 90 days.

Tri-County League In Action Sunday

Shingleton, May 23—With all games in the Tri-county league rained out last Sunday, the crews expect to swing into action on May 26 prepared for a good season.

Seven squads will be competing in the league this year, Manistique township, Rappinville, Gulliver, Seney, Blaney, Lakefield, Curtis and Shingleton. Rappinville is the new entry in the circuit, replacing Germfask, which joined the Central league this year.

The Shingleton nine will have all of last year's regulars back. Kermo, southpaw who was out of the game for the beginning of the season last year, will be back with the squad.

George Skalneck of Shingleton, CCC enrollee, will probably hurl for the local crew in the opener on Sunday.

Changes in the schedule will probably pit the Shingleton crew against the Seney aggregation there this Sunday.

Your Phone and 693 will Buy, Sell and Rent for you.

Today's Sport Parade

New York, May 23.—Man and boy, Jack Doyle has been watching baseball and making book on it since catchers took the ball on the first bounce and a handlebar moustache was the primary requisite of a good pitcher. Yet, he told me today in his odds emporium high over Broadway, that never had he seen a collapse quite equal to that of the 1940 Yanks.

The man was at a loss to explain what has happened to the club that came to the present season with four successive world championships under its belt. And his reaction to the Yankee slump is worth four times as much as that of a Yankee fan or a Yankee hater. Doyle is without sentiment entirely. His business is betting and the odds that control it. He would make his brother an underdog, or a dear first cousin a long-ender.

He looks at any sport, whether it involves an individual or a team, with an eye as cold as a penguin in a pawnbroker's window. There is no emotion in sport for him. He looks at every game as critically as an architect does a blueprint. Any mistake in judgment costs him money, so he cannot afford to take sides.

Was Yank Backer

Doyle was a red-hot Yankee enthusiast when the season opened. He looked upon them as one of the greatest teams of all time, one of those rarities that come along now and then—a sure thing.

His opening line on the Yankees to win the American league pennant was 7 to 20. On the chance that you and your family frown on betting, and therefore do not know what 7 to 20 means, I, as an old roue and black sheep, will explain. Seven to twenty means that if, before the season started, you liked the Yanks and wanted to bet on them you had to put up twenty bucks to win seven. In other words, Doyle had them almost at 1 to 3.

What does he have them at today?

Well, the Yankees can draw a bit of hope from the present Doyle odds, despite the fact that they are no longer the prohibitive favorites. In his cold, dour reasoning, Jack puts the odds on the Yanks at 7 to 5. That is the same price he quotes on the Boston Red Sox. This can only mean that despite the lowly standing of the yanks at the moment, he considers them strong enough to overcome the early season lead of the men from Boston.

Cold On Indians

These odds are a tribute to the Red Sox, too, because Doyle's first line priced them at 9 to 2 or 4½ to 1.

Doyle has yet to be sold on the Cleveland Indians. He admits that Bobby Feller is baseball's greatest pitcher, and that Oscar Vitt finally has brought spirit and morale to a club which lacked these uplifting qualities for years, but he can't see 'em winning. His first or pre-season price on the Indians was 8 to 1 and today it still is a juicy 3 to 1.

As for the rest of the American league teams — Doyle doesn't give them a chance. He almost lets the better make his own price on Detroit, Washington, Chicago, Philadelphia and St. Louis.

Doyle makes it plain that his prices are subject to change every day. Let the Yankees win three in a row and that 7 to 5 may be even money. Let Boston or Cleveland launch a winning streak and the odds on them will get a paring.

In the National league Doyle likes Cincinnati even better than he did when the season opened. The Reds were 11 to 5 in April and now they're 4 to 5. Brooklyn's price has shortened, too. The Dodgers were 5 to 1 and now they're 13 to 5. The Cards have lost ground as well. No better than 3 to 1 at the season's start, they're 5 to 1 now.

As for the Giants.

Well—I don't fool with them. I don't like the management. As a matter of fact, the management doesn't like me.

What's your birthday, I'll give you the Giants.

SOX SCORE TEN RUNS IN EIGHTH

Athletics Overwhelmed, 13 to 4, As Chicago Takes 4 Straight

Chicago, May 23. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox operated on the "one big inning" system today to come from behind and overwhelm the Philadelphia Athletics, 13 to 4, for their fourth straight victory.

In the eighth inning the Sox scored 10 runs, getting seven hits, including Taft Wright's homer with one on, while Philadelphia made four errors before Johnny Babich and Ed Heusser finally got the side out. Until then, the Athletics had a 4 to 3 lead.

Both the track and tennis squads will return late Saturday night.

Conn And Lesnevich 15-Rounder Booked For Detroit June 5

Detroit, May 23. (AP)—State Boxing Commissioner John J. Hettche today approved contracts calling for a 15-round light heavyweight title fight here June 5 between Champion Billy Conn and Challanger Gus Lesnevich.

Hettche recently had said he would insist on a 20-round scrap, explaining that the champion was a slow starter, but at today's conference he capitulated to the claims of managers that a longer indoor bout would handicap both fighters.

Conn and Lesnevich underwent physical examinations and doctors said they should not have any trouble making the 175-pound weight limit. Conn appeared to have recovered from an attack of boils which twice cause postponements of the bout.

First Toots Heard From New Fog Horn Here

First bleats were heard at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the Sand Point marine crib's new electric fog horn. The sounds attracted many throughout the city who have become familiar with all the usual tootings of boat and rail traffic, and were alert to catch the new note.

It was just a test of the equipment however, and the horn will not be in regular service until next week, and by the end of next week both the horn and the new electric beacon (replacing a gas fixture) are expected to be in operation.

Yesterday's sample, however, was not as loud as the regular horn will be, Capt. Dan Garrett of the coast guard station reported. The trial was made by means of a temporary electric hook-up with city power lines on shore and with but little pressure from the air compressor which operates the blast.

Besides the standard equipment that will be operated by city electricity, workmen are installing auxiliary generating and air compressing machinery in the crib.

Caspar Eliason of Milwaukee and a crew of two and Cap. Garrett and his helpers are doing the installation.

Hollyhock Departs

The Coast Guard Cutter Hollyhock left Escanaba harbor yesterday dropping its last buoy in these waters enroute to Sturgeon Bay for more buoy placements. It had worked out of this harbor for the last week, placing buoys throughout Bay de Noc waters.

State Labor Board Sits At Marquette

Twenty-five compensation cases were reviewed by four members of the state labor and industry board in Marquette yesterday, with Escanaba attorneys interested in some of the cases.

Chairman James F. Shepherd, Isabel Larwill of Lansing, Dan H. Knaggs of Monroe, Charles Mahoney of Detroit and James Hill, Lansing, of the legal division, sat for the hearings. Decisions were reserved.

Anniverasry: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deloria entertained all of their family except James at their home Sunday, the occasion of their 49th wedding anniversary. Those who gathered for the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Swaer, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Feldhusen, daughter Betty of Iron Mountain, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred La Valle and family, Miss Faye Deloria, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Deloria, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Feldhusen and baby. James resides in Nebraska.

Open House Week: A delicious dinner, prepared by Mrs. Mary McPnee and Miss Mae Cousineau of the hot lunch staff, and other helpers including Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tatrow, Mrs. Sadie Lemirande, and the Misses Ruth Tatrow and Leona Duschene was given for local residents in the Council Room Monday evening at 6:30, the hour when like groups were gathered all over the land. Following dinner, Ray E. Ranguette, who acted as Master of meremonies, asked many questions of Albert Tatrow, recreational director, with a view to clarifying the working and intentions of the Works Progress Association setup. Residents learned that they might have recreation for all classes, young and old, by cooperating with the leaders, who would be only too willing to arrange schedules to accommodate everyone, their working hours being 60 every two weeks.

The most interesting information gleaned from Mr. Tatrow's explanations was the fact that the local community might have a bathing beach with the services of an expert leader in life-saving methods, which would be a most welcome acquisition since swimming is the chief entertainment of the summer months.

Mr. Tebo was called upon for a report of the hot-lunch project including the methods by which the food is obtained. This informed that much produce had been received from the relief agency, but that 25 per cent must be provided locally, and that work has been kept up for the required nine months, which ensures the project being taken up again next year.

At this time the radio was turned on for the speech being given in Washington by the First Lady, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was attending the Open House banquet.

Senator Dotsch then spoke briefly on the relief program, his chief point stressing cooperation.

Charles Johnson, WPA band director and the local band then provided music in the hall above for dancing, Albert Tatrow calling for the square dances which were much enjoyed by participants and onlookers.

Guests of the evening were Jack Stevens and Charles Johnson of Escanaba, Senator and Mrs. James Dotsch, members of the school, town and village boards and their wives.

On Tuesday, moving pictures were taken in the hot lunch kitchen and in the rooms where recreational classes were in progress.

During the whole week these projects may be visited and people are urged to see for themselves the good that is being done in providing something for youngsters to do and thus curb their participation in mischief and unworthy pursuits. In many districts a drop of 50 per cent has been notified in juvenile delinquency which is attributed to WPA activities.

T and T Activities — Members met at the home of Mrs. Joe Duschene Wednesday evening where her daughter Leona and Miss Norma Tatrow were hostesses. A delicious lunch was enjoyed after sewing and games.

The members motored to Iron Mountain and Crystal Falls Saturday and returned Sunday night. This trip wound up their activities for this season.
